HOUSE: Constitutional Amendment and Bill Relative to Suffrage Postponed Till Wednesday—Denver Pacific Railroad and Telegraph Bill Further Considered and Referred to Committee on Public Lands.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, January 25, 1869.

SENATE.

The PRESIDENT presented the credentials of Mr. Ramsey, Senator elect from Minnesota.

Mr. MORGAN presented a memorial in favor of the reorganization of the Medical Department of the Navy.

Mr. EDMUNDS, from the Committee on Retrenchment, reported a bill repealing the Tenure-of-Office bill, with an amendment that heads of departments and members of the cabinet be subject to removal at the will of the President during a recess of the Senate, and authorizing him to suspend all other public officers during such recess, without having specific evidence to justify the suspension.

Mr. HOWARD moved to take up the resolution to more effectually insure the completion of the Union Pacific Railroad according to law.

Mr. CONNESS objected and it went over.

Mr. STEWART, from the Judiciary Committee, made a report, accompanied by the following resolution:

Resolved, That Joshua Hill, claiming to be a Senator elect from Georgia, ought not now be permitted to take a seat in this body.

Mr. TRUMBULL presented a dissenting minority report, which, with the majority report, was laid on the table and ordered printed.

Mr. HENDRICKS said he intended to submit a report himself, dissenting from that of the majority, but he had been too unwell for a week past to prepare one. He would, however, when the subject should come before the Senate, express his views in regard to it.

Mr. WILSON, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported back the bill to provide for the reduction of the military forces, and for other purposes, introduced by him on the 20th instant, with amendments, providing that no person over forty years old shall be appointed a chaplain, that chaplains shall not remain longer than five years at any post, and shall be replaced by chaplains of a different denomination, and that the number of appointments of Second Lieutenants to be made in the army shall not exceed fifty annually.

Mr. WILSON also reported the House bill to fix the status of the Corps of Judge Advocate of the Army, with an amendment making the number of such officers ten instead of twelve.

Mr. FESSENDEN, from Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, reported a joint resolution appropriating $50,000 for improvements to the Interior Buildings and $10,000 for the annual rent of another building on G street. It also authorizes the removal and storage in other parts of the Interior Building of models that have been on hand for seventeen years and models relating to applications for patents that have not been granted.

The President laid before the Senate a petition of Mrs. Lincoln, widow of the late President, asking for a yearly pension. The petition is written on note paper, with a heavy mourning border, and reads as follows:—To the Honorable Vice President of the United States:—Sir: I herewith most respectfully present to the Honorable Senate of the United States an application for a pension. I am the widow of a President of the United States whose life was sacrificed in his country's service. That sad calamity has greatly impaired my health, and by the advice of my physicians I have come over to Germany to try the mineral waters and during the winter to go to Italy; but my financial means do not permit me to take advantage of the urgent advice given me, nor can I live in a style becoming the widow of the Chief Magistrate of a great nation, although I live as economically as I can. In consideration of the great services of my deeply lamented husband has rendered to the United States, and of the fearful loss I have sustained by his untimely death, his martyrdom, I may say, I respectfully submit to your honorable body this petition, hoping that a yearly pension may be granted me so that I may have less pecuniary cares.

I remain, most respectfully,

MRS. A. LINCOLN.

Frankfort, Germany.

It was referred to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. MORTON moved to take up the House bill for the relief of Mrs. McGashohan, postponed at the last recess.

Mr. WILLIAMS remarked that the bill could not be revived in that way without discussion.

Mr. CONNESS said it could not be renewed in that way at all.

Mr. SUMNER expressed the opinion that by uniform practice of the Senate indefinite postponement was equivalent to the rejection of a bill.

Messrs. DAVIS, FESSENDEN, MORTON and SHERMAN contended it had only the force of a rejection for that session.

This point was discussed until the expiration of the morning hour, which brought up the unfinished business of Saturday, the bill relating to the Central Branch of the Union Pacific Railroad.

Mr. SHERMAN moved to postpone it, so as to take up the bill in relation to the public debt and currency, reported by him from the Committee on Finance.

Mr. HOWARD opposed the motion and urged the friends of the Central Pacific Railroad branch bill to keep it before the Senate.

Mr. SHERMAN'S motion was lost—21 to 30, as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Anthony, Bayard, Buckalew, Cattell, Cole, Conkling, Dawes, Dixon, Edmunds, Frelinghuysen, Howe, McCreery, Morgan, Morrill, (Vt.,) Norton, Osborn, Patterson, (Tennessee,) Sherman, Spencer, Wade and Williams.

Nays—Messrs. Abbott, Cameron, Chandler, Conness, Corbett, Cragin, Doolittle, Drake, Ferry, Fessenden, Harlan, Harris, Hendricks, Howard, McDonald, Morrill, (Me.,) Nye, Pomeroy, Pool, Ramsey, Rice, Robertson, Ross, Sawyer, Sumner, Thayer, Trumbull, Van Winkle, Vickers.

The Senate then resumed the discussion of the bill.

Messrs. Stewart and Fessenden advocated the bill and Messrs. Howe and Conkling opposed it. The latter yielded the floor for a motion by Mr. Yates to go into executive session—lost, 18 yeas, 24 nays.

Mr. DOOLITTLE rose to reply, but gave way to a motion for adjournment, which was carried.

Adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. PRICE presented a bill to authorize the construction of a railroad from Davenport, Iowa, to Topeka, Kansas.

One by Mr. TAFFT, granting land to aid in the construction of a railroad from Sioux City, Iowa, to Columbus, Neb.

One by Mr. ROBINSON, declaring that the people of the United States will not approve of the ratification of the treaty for the settlement of the Alabama claims, nor of any other treaty with England, while Americans are held in prison in Great Britain for acts done under the American flag, and that the people think the settlement of the Alabama claims of very little importance.

One by Mr. CORLEY, for the better protection of loyal men at the South, instructing the Committee on Reconstruction to report special legislation for that purpose, to be carried out by the aid of the military.

All appropriately referred.

Mr. SHANKS, on behalf of the Arkansas delegation, offered a resolution for the payment of the Arkansas members of the House for the full term of the Fortieth Congress, reciting precedents in the case of the Louisiana and Tennessee members.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Ill., moved to lay the resolution on the table, which was lost—79 yeas, 88 nays.

Mr. SHANKS moved the previous question, but it was not seconded.

Mr. MAYNARD moved the reference of the resolution to the Committee on Reconstruction, which was carried.

The morning hour having expired, the next business in order was the consideration of the constitutional amendment and the bill relating to suffrage, reported from the Judiciary Committee by Mr. Boutwell, who remarked that the gentlemen who desired to speak on the bill and constitutional amendment were not prepared to-day, and moved to postpone the further consideration till Wednesday next. Agreed to.

The House, at a quarter before two, resumed the consideration of the bill granting land and right of way to the Denver and Pacific Railway and Telegraph Company, and was addressed by Mr. Logan in opposition thereto.

Mr. WINDOM spoke for the bill.

Mr. SCHENCK followed upon the same side, remarking in the course of his speech, in reply to a supposed statement of Mr. Logan's, that even if it was against the wish of the President elect, he should vote according to his own judgment and sense of duty, undeterred by any such intimidation.

Mr. LOGAN said his remarks had been misunderstood. He had not said that General Grant expressed any opinion as to the proposed road. He never talked with him on the subject. He had said the Company was asking the House to vote against the opinion of their constituents, against the platform on which members had been nominated, and against the understood and expressed views of the President-elect. He had certainly understood that the remark was thrown out as a reason why members should not vote for the bill. He favored the proposition and favored the principle of such grants, but he would strive in future to have them better guarded.

Messrs. HIGBY and O'NEIL spoke in support of the bill.

Mr. COVODE closed the debate in its favor and moved the previous question on its passage.

Mr. WASHBURNE, Ill., moved to lay the bill and amendments on the table.

Mr. RANDALL called for the yeas and nays.

Mr. WASHBURNE moved a call of the House. He wanted all the members to be present and show their hands.

A call of the House was not ordered.

The question was taken and the House refused to lay the bill on the table—yeas 85, nays 92. The following is the vote:

Yeas.—Messrs. Allison, Arnell, Bailey, Baker, Baldwin, Barnes, Beamer, Beatty, Benton, Bingham, Blair, Boutwell, Boyer, Brooks, Broomall, Buckland, Buck, Chanler, Churchill, Clark, (Ohio,) Cook, Cornell, Cullom, Delano, Ela, Farnsworth, Ferris, Ferry, Fields, Garfield, Golladay, Grover, Halsing, Harding, Hawkins, Hopkins, Hubbard, (Conn.) Jenks, Jones, (Ky.) Judd, Julian, Kelsey, Kuntz, Laflin, Lawrence, (Ohio,) Loughridge, Marshall, McCullough, Orth, Paine, Perham, Phelps, Pike, Plants, Price, Pruyn, Randall, Raum, Rose, Sawyer, Scofield, Seleye, Shanks, Shellaberger, Spalding, Starkweather, Stuart, Sypher, Trowbridge, Upham, Van Horn, (N. Y.) Van Trump, Vidal, Walker, Williams, Wilson, (Ia.) Wilson (Ohio,) Wilson, (Pa.) Woodward.

Nays—Messrs. Anderson, Archer, Ashley, (Nevada,) Axtell, Barnum, Peck, Benjamin, Blackburn, Baley, Bowen, Boyden, Brownell, (Illinois,) Buckley, Butler, (Tenn.,) Coke, Collis, Clarke, (Kansas,) Clifft, Coburn, Corley, Covode, Dewees, Dockery, Dodge, Donnelly, Driggs, Eckley, Eggleston, Eldridge, Elliott, Elliott, (Kansas,) French, Getz, Glossbrenner, Goss, Grove, Gravely, Griswold, Hamilton, Haughey, Heaton, Higby, Hooper, Hotchkiss, Hubbard, (West Virginia,) Hunter, Jones, (N, C.,) Kellogg, Ketchum, Kitchen, Lash, Loan, Lynch, Mallory, Marvin, Maynard, McCormick, McKee, Mercur, Miller, Morrill, Mullins, Newcomb, Newsham, Nicholson, Norris, O'Neil, Peters, Pettis, Pierce, Pile, Poland, Polsley, Prince, Robinson, Roots, Schenck, Smith, Stevens, Stoker, Stover, Taffe, Twitchell, Vanaernen, Van Anken, Van Horn, Washburne, (Indiana) Whittemore, Windom, Woodbridge.

The House then refused to second the previous question—sixty-three to eighty-six.

Mr. LOGAN moved to refer the bill and amendments to the Committee on Public Lands. Agreed to—eighty-six to sixty-three.

Mr. PAINE asked leave to offer the following resolution, stating it had the approbation of the majority of the members of the Reconstruction Committee, although he was not authorized to report it:

Whereas, It is provided by the Reconstruction act, passed March 2d, 1866, that until the people of the late rebellious States shall be by law admitted to representation in Congress, any civil government that may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and that no person shall be eligible to office in such provisional governments who are not qualified for office by the Fourteenth Amendment of the Constitution of the United States; and whereas, it is reported that the Legislature of Georgia has expelled colored members thereof and admitted to their seats white men who received minorities of votes at the polls, and that members of said Legislature who had been elected thereto by votes of colored men joined in such action, and that twenty-seven disqualified white men hold seats in said Legislature in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment and the Reconstruction Acts of Congress; and whereas, Senators from Georgia have not been admitted to the Senate of the United States: therefore,

Resolved, That the Committee on Reconstruction be ordered to inquire and report whether any, and if any, what further action ought to be taken during the Fortieth Congress respecting the representation of Georgia in the House.

Mr. ROSS objected.

Mr. PAINE moved to suspend the rules.

Mr. ELDRIDGE called for the yeas and nays. They were ordered.

Mr. BINGHAM stated the subject was already before the Committee on Reconstruction under the reference of a bill introduced by the gentleman from Massachusetts, Mr. Butler.

Mr. PAINE said he hardly liked to dispute with his colleague on the Committee.

Mr. ROSS objected to debate.

Mr. PAINE said as he got the floor with the understanding that the proposition would not occupy any time, he would have to withdraw it for the present, but gave notice as soon as he could obtain the floor he would move to suspend the rules.

Mr. SCHENCK remarked there were two bills in Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, one an amendment to the tariff, the other a general amendment to the Revenue laws, on which the Committee of Ways and Means desired the action of the House, and he gave notice that whenever the Legislative Appropriation Bill was out of the way he would endeavor to test the sense of the House on taking up those other two bills and disposing of them.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, moved to go into Committee of the Whole on the Legislative Appropriation bill.

Mr. SPAULDING moved the House adjourn.

The latter motion was agreed to—yeas 31 nays 70, and the House at 4:15 adjourned.

NEW YORK CITY.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, January 25, 1869.

Police Superintendent Kennedy received a dispatch from the Chief of Police at Montreal, stating that the reported arrest of Bogart, the alleged defaulting paymaster in the U. S. Navy, was without foundation.

Sailors of every nationality to the number of 1,200 to 1,500 have struck for thirty dollars per month. They marched in procession to Franklin Square, where speeches were made by several parties in denunciation of the acts of shipmasters in reducing wages to sixteen dollars; any doing so were promised rough treatment. The men then marched down South street cheering one firm who expressed a willingness to give the advanced price, groaning for others who refused, and finally dispersed.

The case of the United States vs. Judge Fullerton, D. C. Bidwell, and others, was to-day postponed in the United States Circuit Court until the complainant, ex-Collector Thos. E. Smythe, who is seriously ill, is able to appear.

In the case of John D. McHenry, indicted for perjury in giving false testimony relative to Samuel N. Pike and Charles Loeb, the defendant not appearing the bail bond was forfeited.

Blaisdell and Eckel, convicted of the illicit removal of spirits, were sentenced respectively, on one count of the indictment, to three years' imprisonment in the Albany Penitentiary. Another case against these parties was postponed for one day to give their council time to consider the propriety of filing special pleas.

Several heavy up-town merchants held a meeting recently with a view to starting a bank under the laws of this State, with a capital of one hundred thousand dollars, the bank to be located near Union Spuare, and not to be a bank of issue.

The auction sale of tickets for the opening night of Booth's new theatre indicates the total receipts at ten thousand dollars. Between four hundred and five hundred persons were present and the competition was lively. One box sold for one hundred and forty dollars and another one hundred twenty-two. The orchestra chairs ranged from eighteen to twenty-five. Seats sold to-day averaged nine dollars each. The sale is to be continued on Wednesday.

Rev. Dr. Littlejohn will be consecrated Episcopal Bishop of Long Island next Wednesday.

John Whalen and wife were fearfully burnt in a tenement house in Sands street, Brooklyn, last night. They went to bed drunk, leaving a candle burning near the bed, which soon caught fire.

Congressional Committee Meetings—Army Officers Retired and Assigned—One Thousand Miles of the Union Pacific Railroad Completed—Georgia Senatorship—Increase of Distilleries.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, January 25, 1869.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

The Election Committee heard this morning further argument from Judge Paschall, of Texas, in behalf of Simon Jones, the contestant of Colonel Mann, deceased, who had been seated. Colonel Hunt and Mr. Wenard, colored, had a further hearing. The Committee will continuo the case, and further argument will be heard to-morrow.

The Reconstruction Committee heard this morning a delegation of Virginia Methodists in opposition to the plan of the Committee of Nine, so far as it modifies the Constitution in the matter of church property.

ARMY OFFICERS BELIEVED AND ASSIGNED

By direction of the President the following named retired officers of the United States are relieved from their present assignments, and, should they so desire, will proceed to their homes: Major Generals James B. Ricketts, Eli Long and Richard Burton; Brevet Major General and Brigadier General James W. Ripley and Robert Anderson; Brevet Brigadier Generals and Colonels Washington Seawell, Jno. W. Simonson, Gustavus Loomis, Charles S. Merchant, Hannibal Day, Pitcairn Morrison, Albermarle Cady, John J. Abercrombie, Kelisha Marshall and Martin Bunker; Brevet Major General and Colonel Harvey Brown, Col. Moses E. Walker; Lieutenant Colonels Enoch Steer, L. F. Alexander, David R. Whiting, Geo. W. Patcher; Brevet Colonels L. Jones and W. H. Walcott; Majors F. W. Larned and Wm. E. Price, and first Lieutenant Brownell and Brevet Captain Patrick.

The following officers have been assigned to duty according to Brevet rank: Brevet Major Generals Buchanan, Colonel of the First Infantry, and Gillem, Colonel of the Twenty-fourth Infantry; Lieutenant Colonel Taggart, Paymaster, has been relieved from duty at St. Louis and ordered to the Pay District of Omaha.

THE GEORGIA SENATOR.

The report of the majority of the Judiciary Committee in the case of Senator Hill, of Georgia, bases his exclusion on the fact that he received the votes of a large number of members of the Legislature who were disqualified under the Fourteenth Amendment, and on the additional fact of the expulsion of colored members of the Legislature. The Committee also state, on the authority of agents of the Freedmen's Bureau, as another reason for his expulsion, that Georgia is in a condition of anarchy, three hundred and thirty-six murders having been committed in the State between January 15h and November 1st, 1868, and that the civil government has evinced an inability or unwillingness to protect the rights of all citizens. Mr. Trumbull's minority report concludes that Congress, having declared Georgia entitled to admission, it is not competent for either House to refuse admission to her regularly accredited Representatives, and that the charge that the Fourteenth Amendment was not ratified by Georgia in good faith is not sustained by a particle of evidence.

THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

One thousand miles of the Union Pacific Railroad are now finished and in operation, the Central Pacific Railroad Company having built five hundred miles. But two hundred and sixty-seven miles remain to be built. There is now no doubt the entire line to the Pacific will be opened early this season. The earnings of the Union Pacific Railroad for the year 1868 are officially reported at $5,066,651 61.

ARMY ORDER.

An order was issued from the Headquarters of the Army, which directs that a contract made with a private physician by the Surgeon General or Medical Director of a Department shall be annulled only by those officers, or by the Commanding General of the Military District or Department.

REVENUE FROM WHISKEY.

It is estimated there are at least a thousand distilleries in operation throughout the country, and reports received at the Treasury Department indicate the number will be largely increased.

Alta Vela Sold to a French Company—Protest Against the Sale by the American Consul—Serious Riots in Havana—Citizens Killed and Wounded by the Volunteers.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HAVANA, January 25.—Advices from St. Thomas to the 18th are received. News had reached there from St. Domingo that President Baez had sold Alta Vela to a French company, ignoring the previous sale of the island. The American Consul at St. Domingo had protested against the transaction and sent for a United States man-of-war. Baez remained in his Copital, around which intrenchments had been thrown up. He had invited ex-President Cabral and his followers to return to their country, and they will agree to do so if Baez abdicates, an election is held for a new President and all political prisoners are released.

Most of the recent troubles between the citizens and soldiers in this city have taken place in the Jesus Mary ward. Yesterday afternoon these disturbances broke out again in the same quarter. Some people on the house tops fired at volunteers in the streets. The latter returned the fire. It is not known whether any were killed.

Late in the evening the house of Senor Aldama, a rich planter, who was suspected of giving aid and comfort to the revolutionists, was entered by police officers, supported by a squad of volunteers, and searched for arms supposed to be hidden there. The building was badly damaged by the troops. The Spaniards assert this house was one of those from which the volunteers were fired upon. At nine o'clock on the same night, in the vicinity of the Lauvre Coffee House and Lacon Theatre opposite, shots were fired at some volunteers who were passing through the street. The lower hall of the Lauvre was crowded with people, utterly ignorant of what was going on outside or on the upper floor of the building. The detachment of volunteers halted, fired the Lauvre and fired upon the guests indiscriminately with fatal effect. Several Spanish gentlemen, Government employes and army officers, were killed. Two German merchants, named Rochling and Lappenberg, and many other persons were dangerously wounded. Samuel Copener, a well known photographer from the United States, was attacked and killed near the Lauvre, about the same time, by some armed men who are supposed to have belonged to the volunteer force. While the audience was leaving the Villa Lauvre Theatre shots were fired by which two ladies and several children were killed.

A meeting of the Commanders of the volunteer forces was held to-day. Captain General Dulce was present. He deplored the recent occurrences. It was resolved that all volunteers, excepting those on guard, shall hereafter remain at their homes, and only come out when a signal of twelve guns is fired, or at the command of their chief officers. Meantime, till the arrival of additional regular troops from Spain, sailors from some men-of-war in the harbor are to perform patrol duty, and they are now patrolling the streets outside the walls. Business has been suspended since the disturbances with the volunteers, but the people are now greatly relieved, the feeling of security growing stronger, as the sailors are well-disciplined, sober and faithful, and perform their duties to the satisfaction of all. The city is now (6 P. M.) perfectly quiet.

The American schooner Arrieta, formerly a Key West wrecker, has been brought to this port as a prize by the Spanish gunboat Velta, on suspicion of carrying supplies to rebels. When discovered she pretended to be engaged in wrecking a ship lost on the Colorado Reefs. The Arrieta cleared from Key West on the 8th for Liscal.

—The important case of D. D. William son vs. The Louisville, New Albany and Chicago Railroad Company, was decided in the White county Court of Common Pleas at Monticello, Ind., last week. The suit was brought in the Common Pleas Court at New Albany, but a change of venue was granted to Judge Larue, of Tippecanoe county, before whom the case was tried. After hearing the argument Judge Larue ordered a decree of sale. The sheriff of White county, after advertising the property for forty days in one newspaper at Monticello, two in New Albany and two in the city of New York, is empowered to sell the road, its franchises, rolling stock, depots and other property, to the highest bidder, the proceeds to be applied to indemnifying the bondholders. The sale will take place about the first of April. This is one of the most important suits ever decided by an Indiana Court, involving as it does millions of dollars.

—The barque Cadet, laden with earthenware, consigned to Wright & Co., Philadelphia, arrived in port on Saturday, after a voyage of three months and eleven days, from Liverpool. She encountered a succession of terrific gales, which drove her to sea five times. Twice she was driven off Hatteras, and twice blown far to sea after having reached the mouth of the Chesapeake. The crew, fourteen in number, were for days without provisions, and for weeks half naked and up to their waists in water. They worked the pumps night and day to keep the bark afloat, and but for the assistance of passing vessels, on three occasions, all would have starved to death. She arrived without the loss of a man, spar or rope.

Sooner or later this substantially will be the solution of the Mexican question, and General Grant is the proper man to settle it.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

"I SHALL DIE ALONE."

When the rich gold and purple of Life's sunset
Lies in beauty on the silent sea;
When on the shore I see the white robed angel
And hear his whisper, "God has called for thee,"—

Eyes lit with love will watch me on the seashore,
Warm human hands will fondly press my own:
But can bear them with me on my journey
Out through the dimness of the world unknown?

And this great beauty of the earth and heavens,
The holy night whose glory fills my soul,
The softened amethyst of fading twi light,
The gleaming stars on night's emblazoned scroll—

The rosy light of morning on the mountains,
The tender purple of the distant sea,
Things I love now, from henceforth all forgotten,
What of their beauty can I bear with me?

"Alone, alone," sighed gentle hearted Pascal,
And yet I think that not alone when we die:
Though all this earth is dimly fading from us,
Are we alone if one kind Friend is nigh!

One who hath said, "Lo, I am with you always,"
The way-worn Man who sat by Galilee,
Speaking good words and healing all the people,
Who lived and died for love of you and me.

Oh, not alone, for this our Friend and Brother,
Though Heaven's great angels bow before His throne,
Shall stand, with us upon the silent seas' ore,
His hand shall guide us to the world unknown.

—From an exchange we glean the following: "The first Episcopal Cathedral ever built in New England was opened for the first time on Christmas. It has been fully organized, after the English system, by the Right Rev. Dr. Neely, the Bishop of Maine. The youngest diocese in the New England States, that of the State of Maine, is the first one to have its full cathedral system. Chicago, Buffalo, Pittsburgh and some other cities have already adopted it." We should like to see this adoptive cathedral of the diocese of Pittsburgh.

—Again Chicago has a terrific, whole column sensation item. This time it is "a beautiful girl of sixteen, who throws herself under a train of cars. Body terribly torn and mutilated. Love and parental severity the cause of the rash proceeding," all in large letters at the top of the column. Further down the reporter says: "The unfortunate victim of self-destruction was a young girl of rare beauty and intelligence; the cause of the deed, frustrated but undying love; the manner of death, crushed under the wheels of a lightning express train. The particulars of the case are truly terrible, revealing as they do an anguish of soul such as few human beings are ever called upon to undergo; and ending in a tragedy almost unparalleled in its appalling incidents." Her name was Hannah Wiedman.

Ghosts.

We have already noticed the fact that ghosts are reported to have been seen hovering over the scene of the late terrible steamboat disaster on the Ohio river. A correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial offers the following as a possible explanation:

The talk about the appearance of spirits above the wrecks of the ill-fated United States and America recalls to my mind a remarkable natural phenomenon which I had occasion to witness about two years ago, and which may, perhaps, serve to explain the strange apparitions in question.

The members of the Boston "Orpheus" have for years spent the 17th of June, the anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill, at the Black Rock House, situated near Hingham, on Cape Cod. This hotel has a splendid piazza in the rear, overhanging the rocky shore, and it has been our custom to illuminate the rocks with blue lights, and to witness the truly splendid scene from this piazza. One night when I and a friend of mine had just lit a couple of lights, and were creeping away among the rocks, our attention was suddenly caught by seeing our friends standing on the piazza reflected, in the shape of giants, from the sky above the hotel. We shouted up to them to turn around and see themselves, which they did; and their waving of hats, etc., was duly responded to by their counterparts in the sky. Their figures appeared dark, very distinct, and surrounded by light. In this case the reflection in the air must have been caused by a peculiar state of the atmosphere, perhaps by the abrupt termination of a bank of fog. The outlines were steady and clear, the light being bright and still.

It now strikes me that a similar state of the atmosphere may have caused the so-called apparition on the Ohio. The engine fires would furnish the light, and men standing in front of them would serve as reflected objects. The moving forward of the boat would constantly decrease the distance between the reflecting surface and the reflected object and light, and thus gradually enlarge the image; and the flickering of the engine fires would also explain the indistinctness of the figures.

We often tried to repeat the wonderful spectacle at the Black Rock House, but always without success; and on the night, in question, it only lasted a few moments, the second lights already failing to produce the images.

HOUDON'S WASHINGTON.—It is stated that Houdon, who was sent over from Paris by Mr. Jefferson to execute a statue in marble of General Washington for the State of Virginia, had great difficulty in designing an effective position for the subject of his chisel. After waiting some weeks at Mount Vernon without making a commencement of his work, Houdon at last secured the desired animation for the figure by hastily sketching an attitude accidentally assumed by General Washington in expressing his indignation at a person who demanded an exorbitant price for a pair of fine horses offered to him for purchase.

Religion in Russia.

About fifty versts from Nijni Novgorod the population of a large village was gathered in Sunday dress upon the ice. A baptism was in progress, and as we drove past the assemblage, I caught a glimpse of a man plunging through a freshly cut hole. Half a minute later he emerged from the crowd and ran toward the nearest house, the water dripping from his garments and hair. As we passed around the end of the village I looked back, and saw another person running in the same direction.

Converts to the Russian Church are baptized by immersion, and once received in its bosom they continue members until death do them part. The Government is far more tolerant in its matters of religion than that of any Roman Catholic country in Europe; I think it might even reprove Great Britain pretty sharply for its religious tyranny in unhappy Ireland. Every man in Russia can worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience, provided he does not shock the moral sense of civilization in so doing. Every respectable form of Christian worship enjoys full liberty, and so does every respectable form of Paganism and Anti-christianity. The Greek faith is the acknowledged religion of the Government, and the priests, by virtue of their partly official character, naturally wield considerable power. The abuse or undue employment of that power is not (theoretically) permitted, however much the Church may manifest its zeal. Every effort is made to convert unbelievers, but no man is forced to accept the Greek faith.

Traveling through Russia one may see many forms of worship. He will find the altars of Shamanism, the temples of Bhudda, the mosques of Islam, and the synagogues of Israel. On one single avenue of the Russian capital he will pass in succession the churches of the Greek, the Catholic, the Armenian, the Lutheran, and the Episcopal faith. He will be told that among the native Russians there are nearly fifty sects of greater or less importance. There are some advantages in belonging to the Church of State, just as in England, but they are not essential. I am acquainted with officers in the military, naval, and civil service of the Government who are not, and never have been members of the Greek Church. I never heard any intimation that their religion had been the least bar to their progress. —Harper's Magazine.

THE annual festival which Mrs. Col. Colt (in Hartford,) gives to the Sunday-school children on her domain, was held this year in one of the large halls. The Christmas tree was composed of gas pipes so twisted as to represent branches, wound with evergreens, and a thousand jets of light shone among them. All the children had presents given them, and all had a splendid collection. A large portrait of Col. Colt hung over the tables, the frame surrounded by a wreath of evergreens and flowers, and the top surmounted by a cross of pure white camelias, and the hall was otherwise decorated with evergreens and flowers. During the evening, says the Times, a little gold box, which Mrs. Nichols Beach—Mrs. Colt's sister—brought from Europe, was exhibited, to the intense delight of the little ones. It is about four inches long by three broad and one thick, and touching a spring, an enameled medalion on the top sprung open, and out flew a little bird, hardly three-quarters of an inch long, but of the most brilliant plumage. He would warble and sing for awhile and then suddenly pop out of sight. The cost of this little toy, we are told, was $1,500 in gold.

FORT TICONDEROGA.—The antiquaries of Vermont are at present vigorously engaged in maintaining the truth of the familiar account of the capture of Ticonderoga by Colonel Ethan Allen, according to which that officer both planned and captured the fort rushing into it before daybreak in May, 1775, and demanding its surrender "in the name of the Great Jehovah and the Continental Congress." After the lapse of nearly a century, it is alleged that Allen had nothing to do with the project, further than to belong to the storming party. According to the testimony now adduced, it is asserted that one Col. John Brown of Pittsfield, Mass., first suggested the idea; that Benedict Arnold was the chief commander of the forces; and as to demanding the surrender of the fort in the manner commonly described, that Allen was an atheist who did not believe in Jehovah, and that no Continental Congress had yet come into existence.

A CASE OF SUSPENDED ANIMATION.—On last Saturday, a farmer named John Foster, about fifty years of age, living near Van Wert, Ohio, while seated conversing with his family, suddenly dropped out of his chair, apparently lifeless. Medical assistance was soon obtained, and upon examination life was pronounced to be extinct. Accordingly preparations were made for the burial, which was to take place on Monday. Arriving at the grave yard, the coffin was opened for a last view of the supposed inanimate remains, when unmistakable signs of life were discovered. The brow was covered with perspiration, and the body had every appearance of being in a natural and healthy sleep. His friends were prevailed upon to take the body home, where it remains up to the present time in the same condition.

GEN. GRANT was quite jolly at Baltimore, Friday. In company with Farragut he sat down to an elegant dinner which had been prepared at a snuff factory which they visited. No toasts were drunk, but, as the conversation became general, witticisms passed, and the guests thoroughly enjoyed the informality of the occasion. Farragut wittily turned the laugh on Grant, when the latter said that "smoking was not a vice or the Admiral would smoke," by replying: "the General forgets that I am no longer a Vice-Admiral." In the same vein, when after passing through the building both were weighed, and it was found that Farragut weighed 151 and Grant 155 pounds, the old sailor accused the soldier of having "bummerized" four pounds of tobacco to make up his weight.

FIRE DAMP in mines, it is stated, can be completely destroyed by means of a new invention recently explained before the French Academy of Science. The process is as follows: A strong electric current is passed through a wire composed of alternate sections of copper and gold, soldered together. The short section of the fine gold wire is surrounded by flour of sulphur, which ignites easily. The electric current causes the gold to become red hot, setting fire to the sulphur, which burns out any noxious gases. The mine is in this way purified before the miners descend.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede slowly at this point with four and a half feet in the channel by the Monongahela marks last evening. The weather has again turned cold and at this writing, it is trying to snow. Thermometer at noon was up to 28—we expect to see it almost down to zero this morning.

Business was moderate at the landing yesterday, taking everything into consideration, though it might be considerably better, and then be nothing to brag of.

The Zanesville packet Julia No. 2, has not been here now for two weeks.

The R. R. Hudson arrived from Cincinnati about nine o'clock on Sunday night with an excellent trip, including a considerable amount of sugar and molasses.

The Camelia, Capt. Thos. Poe, will be the first boat out for Nashville.

The Champion, Capt. Fuller, will be the first boat out for Cincinnati. She is advertised to leave this evening.

The Bellevernon, Capt. J. J. Darragh, is filling up slowly for St. Louis, as is also the Mollie Ebbert, Captain G. W. Ebbert, for New Orleans. These are both tip-top boats,

The Bavard, Captain Geo. D. Moore, is the the regular packet for Parkersburg to-day, leaving at noon.

The R. C. Grey was advertised to leave Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Saturday.

The Armadillo arrived at Cincinnati on Friday, and departed again the same day for Louisville.

The Pink Varble was sold at Louisville on Friday last, to Captain Paul, for $7,500. She is to ply in Cumberland river trade.

The towboat Lake Erie, New Orleans to Pittsburgh, was at Cairo on Friday, and the A. J. Baker passed Louisville the same day, en route for this port.

The decision of the local inspectors in regard to the collision between the towboat Tiger and J. N. McCullough, has been published. The license of Carlton C. Cable, pilot on the McCullough, was revoked, and Wm. Stewart, pilot on the Tiger, suspended for 60 days.

—The Minneola, of the Cincinnati and Memphis packets, has discarded the use of carbon oil, and substituted lard oil.

—Lawrence Roddy, of Pennsylvania, 19 years old, second engineer of the Glide, died on Sunday, at the Charity Hospital, in New Orleans, from the effects of the injuries received by the explosion of that boat.

—A St. Louis dispatch says: Representatives of the Northern Line, Northwestern Union and Keokuk Lines have been in consultation here for two days past with a view of fixing a basis of agreement for the transaction of business between here and St. Paul next season. The prospects are that there will be no opposition between these companies, and that rates will be established which will avert the ruinous competition of last year. The party taking the initiative in this matter has not transpired.

IT is probable that the Senate amendments to the copper tariff bill will be accepted by the House.

CONTRIBUTIONS sent to the GAZETTE which we are unable to publish, we can not return to the writers.

SOME improvement is reported in the collection of the whisky tax; that is, an increase of $6,883,490 during the last five months.

THE bill to contiuue in office the Republican Receiver of Taxes in Philadelphia was killed in the Senate for want of a quorum. This result is well.

THERE is an audacity in Jay GOULD'S projects that borders upon the sublime. He now proposes, within a year, to extend the broad guage to New Orleans.

DURING the year 1868, 3,450 miles of railway were constructed in the United States, at an aggregate cost of $193,245,232. This makes a total of 42,272 miles of railway already in use, at a cost of $1,853,706,041.

BILLS ARE before the Illinois Legislalature to restrict charges for passengers and freight on all railways chartered by that State. The Companies make no opposition, prefering to let the bills pass, and then contest their validity in the Courts.

WE TRUST that neither branch of the Legislature will increase its minor officers beyond the number stipulated in the law of last year. The people are justly indignant at the scandalous extravagance practised at the last session, and will not submit to a repetition of the offense.

NOTHING has transpired to indicate whether or not the Legislature will order a peremptory sale of the bonds of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and of the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad Company, now part and parcel of the assets of the Sinking Fund. As we judge, such sale would result in a sheer loss to the State of some millions of dollars. What the State would lose in the operation the Pennsylvania Railroad Company would be certain to gain.

The Commercial approved of the proposed sale. We respectfully suggest that it turn the matter over again in its mind, acknowledge its mistake, and cast the weight of its influence on the right side.

IN THE legal proceedings instituted at New York between the chiefs of the different railway cliques, revelations have been made as to the character of those men for truth and honesty which are absolutely appalling. Knowing each other well, they have not dared to trust each other a particle, but have gone upon the assumption they were mutually dealing with scoundrels.

This disclosure of rottenness in foremost business circles, taken in connection with the profligacy existing in Congress and State Legislatures, creates the most serious apprehensions for the future of the country.

A VERY SINGULAR PAPER was presented in the Senate yesterday from Mrs. ABRAHAM LINCOLN, forwarded from Germany, praying that she be pensioned by the Government. If she had made no reference to her inability to live abroad in the style becoming the widow of a President of the United States, she might have touched a deeper chord in the American heart, than her petition may reach. Since the disgraceful peddling of old clothes and pawning of jewelry on her part, she has not occupied high place in public estimation, but still she is the widow of LINCOLN, and, if really in actual want, her demands on the charity of the nation should not be suffered to pass by unheeded.

ELLERSHAUSEN-IRON.

Cost of Production Lessened—Quality of Product Improved—The Manufacture Simplified—The Widened Range of Available Ores—The Impending Revolution in the Trade.

The heading of this article informs the reader of what we are now to write about. We do not propose any learned disquisition upon the first discovery of the adaptation of iron for man's uses, or of its exact fitness to contribute in supplying the first necessities of the race. Nor shall we need to occupy these types in dilating upon a theme already well comprehended by the intelligent reader—the inestimable value of this most precious of metals, as the basis of individual and national claims to the refined, luxurious and elevated progress of the race in this era of the world. The reader can indulge in these speculations for himself—perhaps more to his own enjoyment than anything we might say—and if he can develope any new ideas in that behalf, we congratulate him in advance, for a genius which no bushel should hide from the admiration of mankind.

Let us take a fair start, with the understanding that everybody recognizes the essential value of the simple metal, iron, to individual comfort, to National strength and prosperity—perhaps we might say to the existence of either individuals or nations. What we propose to show is briefly this, that a revolution is at hand, in the production of this metal under the forms which adapt it for human use, which will so lessen the cost of its preparation in these forms, will so improve the metallic product itself, will so enlarge the range of crude materials available for that preparation, and will so simplify the peculiar and somewhat intricate processes to which the manufacture has heretofore been confined, as to promise a radical revolution in the trade specially engaged, and to inaugurate a new era of progress, as wonderful as it is sudden, toward the satisfaction of the great primal decree that man shall live by the sweat of his brow.

The inventor, FRANCIS ELLERSHAUSEN, presented himself, in September, 1868, to a firm prominent among our Pittsburgh iron-masters, and invited their attention to certain discoveries which he claimed to have made in cheapening the cost and in improving the quality of their manufacture. Messrs. SHOENBERGER, BLAIR & Co., the present successors in a business which the late Dr. SHOENBERGER was among the first to establish at this point, were fortunate in being selected by the sanguine inventor to aid him in the development of his plans. They were more fortunate still in already possessing the sound judgment, ripe experience, clear discrimination and steady nerve which combined the essential qualifications, for a careful and exhaustive trial upon the merits of the new and startling claims now made to them.

For these claims were as new as that of COLUMBUS who promised to make an egg stand upon its end; they were equally simple, and equally capable of a speedy proof. The simple experiment of the Genoese discoverer, so easy, so obvious and so conclusive, was of illimitable potency over the destinies of man, since it was a startling illustration of the simplicity of truths which were to reorganize the social constitution of the world. So the discovery for which this gentleman now asked the experimental judgment of a few iron-masters of this city, simple and obvious as it was, signified the reconstruction of a vast and opulent traffic, and that a manufacture of traditional acceptation must be laid aside forever. The problem of COLUMBUS and his egg has been propounded and solved again, in another form, in our own practical city.

On several occasions hitherto, this journal has alluded to the experiments in progress at the "Juniata Works" of the above named firm. Yesterday, we reprinted, from a New York journal, an article, mainly correct in its statements, which gave some idea of the nature and results of the ELLERSHAUSEN process. We had also yesterday the pleasure of witnessing, upon the inventor's invitation, the entire process, as it is now has been for some weeks successfully pursued at those iron-works.

We learn from the specification in the letters-patent that the novelty of this process consists in:

"The mixing of solid oxides into and among fluid cast iron, or of fluid oxides with solid cast iron, granulated or minutely subdivided, in such a manner and in such quantity as to produce a solid conglomerate of the two substances, and also in effecting this mixture, and producing the resulting pig bloom or pig scrap, without the application of other heat than that of the fused cast iron or oxide, as the case may be, thus dispensing with the use of a furnace for any part of the process of mixing after the melting of the cast iron or oxide, whichever of them is used in a fused condition.

"The material thus produced may be used in like manner as any wrought-iron of similar shape, so that when raised to a welding heat, the pig bloom, manufactured as hereinbefore described, may be pressed, squeezed, hammered, rolled, or worked in any of the methods employed in the treatment of wrought iron, and with like results, excepting that the article of wrought iron produced by our process is superior in quality to that obtained in the ordinary way."

The process was witnessed at the works yesterday by a large number of gentlemen, representing not only the press of the city, but some of the most prominent and successful iron-masters from distant points, who were present that they might see and judge for themselves. Let us say that we saw no experiment; we beheld only the regular working of the new method which, so far as the proprietors have been able to reconstruct their mill, is now their entire reliance for the manufacture of a very superior iron. The following description, reprinted from yesterday, gives a sufficiently exact idea of the details of the process as observed by us:

On the casting-floor of the smelting furnace, a cast-iron turn-table about 18 feet in diameter, is revolved on rollers by a small steam engine. Upon the outside edge of the table stand a row of cast-iron partitions, forming boxes, say 24 inches wide and 10 inches high, open at the top. Just above the circle of boxes stands a stationary, wide-mouthed spout, terminating in the tap hole of the furnace. When the furnace is tapped, the liquid iron runs down this spout and falls out of it in a thin stream into the boxes as they slowly revolve under it, depositing in each a film of iron, say one-eighth of an inch thick. But before the fall of melted iron reaches the boxes it is intercepted, or rather crossed at right angles, by a thin fall of pulverized iron ore, which runs out of a wide spout from a reservoir above. These two streams or falls are of about equal volume, say one-quarter of an inch deep and twenty-four inches wide.

The thin layers of iron and ore at once chill and solidity, so that by taking out the outer partition of the boxes (which form the rim of the turn-table) they may be removed in cakes of the size of the boxes, and weighing about one hundred pounds each. These cakes or blooms are put into a reverberatory puddling or heating furnace, and raised to a bright yellow heat. They will not melt at this heat, but become softened so as to be easily broken up with a bar. The four blooms are formed, in the furnace, by the "rabble" of the workmen, as in ordinary belling operations, into balls. The balls are brought out, one after another, squeezed in the ordinary "squeezers" to expel the cinder and superfluous ore, and then rolled into wrought-iron bars, which are now ready for market, or for further reduction into smaller finished forms.

It is seen that the process is a faithful exposition of the two new principles in iron-metallurgy which Mr. ELLERSHAUSEN claims to have discovered, viz: 1st, That cast-iron thoroughly intermingled with oxides will not melt; 2d, That any impurities in the mixture thus effected are all removed by heating the same again. The practical application of these principles consists in forming a conglomerate of the liquid cast-iron, as it runs from the blast-furnace, with a sufficient amount of oxide (crude ores pulverized) and subsequently heating this conglomerate to a welding-heat.

Observing the manufacture in all its stages, from the discharge of the blast-furnace into the moulds, to the bending double and treble of the horse-shoe bars cold over the anvil, we also obtained from the inventor, from gentlemen of the firm and from Mr. TATNELL, the Superintendent of the works, a variety of facts which are at the service of the public. Let us first advert to

The cost of the process. The old method of puddling is dispensed with. The puddlers, working at the same rate find ample employment as heaters, and the increased production largely swells their earnings. Of the twelve furnaces at this mill, but one has yet been rebuilt and enlarged; the rest will be similarly altered as fast as possible. The old furnaces, with a poor draft and small capacity, turning out under the boiling method about 2,300 pounds to the five heats, yield now without alteration from 3,900 to 4,000 pounds for the same work. The new furnace has yielded from six heats 5,955 pounds. These facts show the capacity of the furnaces without alteration to be nearly doubled. Of the two stacks in the casting-house, but one is used for this process, no turn-table with moulds being yet provided for the other, although ordered and soon to be ready for use. The former yields 4 to 5 tons at each run every three hours, or eight runs in the twenty-four hours. The present table, 16 feet in diameter, is to give place to one twice as broad, more than doubling the area and increasing the total product accordingly. The moulds on the present table were filled yesterday in fifteen minutes from the tapping of the furnace to the knocking off of the clamps and the lifting of the pig-blooms by the workmen. No puddling being necessary, the pig-blooms are transferred to the heating furnace and, as soon as the welding heat is again attained, thence to the "squeezer," from the squeezer to the muck-rolls, and so to the muck-billet, which is cut in proper lengths, reheated for the "horse-shoe-bar" rolls, and so turned out finished of a quality heretofore unsurpassed. We found that the same fuel, labor and furnaces for the production of one ton of puddled iron, turn out two tuns by this process; that the iron is greatly improved in quality and uniformity; that re-workings are needless, unless for change of shape, because the "muck-bar" is found to possess all the improved quality; that large masses can be made without welds, and that all of this is accomplished without any extra loss of weight. Indeed, on the latter point, we learned that while of puddled metal 100 pounds yielded only 95 pounds of iron, 100 pounds of pig, under this process yields 105 pounds, a difference gained from the crude ore. The mill-estimates, the figures being based upon 1500 tons of iron already produced, show a saving of $15 per ton in labor alone, on horse-shoe bar. There will be large additional savings in mills which, built for this process, shall have stacks and moulding-tables side by side with the heaters, so that the transfer can be made without cost or delay, or the cooling of the pigs. Regularly heated, the best results are invariably attained. The first glance of comparison between the muck-bar products of the new and the old process tells the whole story. Follow it down to the billet; take one at random, roll it into the horse-shoe size, and you can bend it double when cold without injury to its texture. The trade concur in saying that this improvement is marked in all qualities of iron used, but it is also true that the better quality of the pig is seen in the still better character of the product. "Blood will tell," remarked another eminent iron-master of this city, who is preparing his machinery to adopt this new process; the better the ores, the better the bar. But there is no ore, now used by any in the trade, no matter how inferior, which does not, as far as known, yield good iron under this process. Let us here remark that the first experiments of Mr. ELLERSHAUSEN were made in the crucible, and all scientific experience agrees that the nice results from trials with such crucibles or retorts, conducted in a small way and with extra care, are never realized in subsequent trials of a practical character. We have reason to believe, however, that the ELLERSHAUSEN process actually promises the same success at the heating furnaces of the great mill as from the minute crucible of his earliest investigations.

Range of Ores Available. We have said enough to show that the Ellershausen process renders every variety of ore in this Commonwealth available for the economical production of good iron. It will create a demand for a vast but hitherto neglected amount of our mineral wealth. It frees our iron-masters measurably from any need for procuring ore from distant and expensive sources. It not only offers a remunerative development for all our ores, but it will put the mill and the blast furnace together side by side, to the increased profit of both.

What the Trade say. The ELLERSHAUSEN process commands an universal approbation. It has been carefully inspected here by gentlemen from probably every leading mill in the Union. Not one goes away unconvinced. The leading mills of this vicinity are preparing to adopt it, as at the Sligo works where it will soon be in the fullest operation. The remarkable simplicity of the process, and the limited cost of adapting the present style of mills for its introduction, the marked improvement in the quantity and quality of product, and the still more marked shrinkage in the total cost of making a ton of iron, coupled with the increased range of available crude material—all these considerations leave but little, if any, choice to the trade. It is evident that no concern can afford to be last, in a competition from which laggards are bound to suffer. Those who make iron cheapest and best, will have the market. When the trade shall all have come on to the new basis, the consuming public will realize their proper proportion of the advantage. Then we shall have, with a larger and better prodnction, more profit for the mills and cheaper iron for the million.

The Juniata Works, pioneers in this long and bold step forward, have the right to make 20,000 tons per annum free of royalty. This right seems as fairly earned as is the success, for no small share of which the ingenious inventor has been indebted to the cordial and judicious co-operation of these iron-masters, and particularly of Mr. BLAIR, and of the Superintendent. Mr. TATNELL. The attention and labors of these gentlemen have been assiduously given to secure the final triumph which is now close at hand for the ELLERSHAUSEN IRON.

THE LECTURE.

Miss Anna E. Dickinson at the Academy Last Night.

Miss Anna Dickinson, perhaps more than any lady prominently before the American public, deserves the proud distinction awarded brains, tact, talent and enterprise. Through merit and application, she has won her way into favor and attained a prominence in politics and literature seldom achieved by a representative of the weaker sex. Her ability as a lecturer, capacity as a talker, and power as a thinker, render her the literary phenomenon of the age, and combine to give her standing and place among the more eminent scholars and orators America has produced. She has ever been a favorite in these communities; her name has been revered and respected, and in its own strength would crowd any of our commodious halls if attached to a lecture announcement. From a knowledge of her popularity, we were not the least surprised last evening to find the Academy of Music thronged to its utmost capacity with an audience conspicuous for brilliancy and intelligence. Every seat was occupied in the parquette, dress circle and first gallery, by attentive listeners, and, taken altogether, the occasion was a fitting ovation to the talented lady at the rostrum.

The subject of the lecture, "A Struggle For Life," was one full of meaning and was handled with decided ability. We need not attempt, in the limited space at our disposal, to furnish those readers who were deprived of the pleasure of partaking in the literary feast afforded, anything more than a faint idea of the subject matter discussed. She remarked that a great deal had been said about woman's work. Some may, perhaps, inquire what need there is for further argument by her upon a subject which has been thoroughly discussed by the best speakers in the country. She would tell them why. It is because she is more interested than many of the orators. "Stop preaching and go to fighting" would be the theme of her discourse. The world belongs to those who will take it, say the affirmative; but, responds the negative, it is not for women to take such gifts. It is not a good thing for one life to do the work of another life. She did not wish to blaze in jewels and wear laces, for which she had given no equivalent. Work is the normal condition of every human being, and any one denied the privilege or the means of work withers and fades. Nay, more; the effort to do nothing is much harder than the effort to do something. Walking is a great deal easier than standing still. It is not a good thing to release any soul from toil and responsibility. In the Malay language the word for flower and woman was the same. Men liked to pluck moss roses and heliotrope and pansies, and perhaps daisies and geranium blossoms, and wear them in their button holes, but what of sunflowers and hollyhocks? The moss rose or the daisy is carefully plucked from its garden bed and transferred to the button hole to be carefully guarded and shielded from all harm, and so long as its sweet fragrance and delicate beauty lasts, all is well, but when its leaves wither and droop, and its color is gone, the hand which plucked it is either placed in pride or shame over the flower to shield it from public view, or it is cast aside to be trampled under foot. Just so is it with woman, and every one can make the application. Better let the flower remain in its garden bed, growing stronger day by day in its conflict with the wind and rain, and shedding its fragrance upon the free air, able to take care of and maintain itself. Invalidism is a characteristic of American women. Compel the hands and brain of a man to lie idle, and he would soon fall heir to innumerable diseases, or rear a numerous progeny of distempered fancies. A privileged class could not be maintained in a republican community without the contagion spreading to other classes where it should not. It is a two-edged sword, inflicting wounds alike upon the victim and the one who holds the weapon.

Miss Dickinson stated that the press and a large portion of the public had pursued her with various epithets as a man hater. That depended on the man. But she would advise her masculine friends never to take a wife unless pure and unselfish love were given and returned at the same time. The shallow arrays of sophistries which the Hollands and the Todds present about woman's vocation were thoroughly riddled and ruined. Their empty logic starts with the assumption that only that class exist who can quietly enjoy home and expect marriage. Miss Dickinson showed that the question is not whether women shall leave homes to combat with the world, but whether being out, those women shall have work, choice of work, and fairly paid work.

The root of the evil is in the training, or rather in the want of training. True philanthropy would dictate the establishment of training schools in every home, and in every town, and in every city for the cultivation of talents developed by girls for whatever trade or profession she may be adapted by nature. Society trains to look upon labor as anything but ennobling. The professions are overcrowded with young men by the same demands of society. Make work honorable and respectable for women, and all decent work will be honorable for men. The underpay of women was condemned. It was the consequence of overcrowding the field of labor. In the majority of cases a man would prefer to labor. Boys and girls were differently taught upon the subject of work; the one learned that work was an honor; the other that it was a disgrace. The first named was trained to do his work as a man should do it. The girl grows to womanhood, and she has no time to acquire a trade. She must do her work without preparation, and consequently without skill, unless she turns to the needle. The question might be asked why these women did not change their garrets for kitchens? They were not prepared for the life of servant girls; and even if they were they would be met with thousands of foreigners, and the misery would be but changed from one class to another.

The lecturer did not lay all the blame at the door of man, but in earnest, impassioned words, which thrilled to every heart, appealed to woman to be just to herself. She advised the women of America to take the matter into their own hands; to cultivate their own brains; to learn how to do their own work well and skillfully. Badly done work deserved nothing but underpay. She would not have the women make roads, and shoe horses, and plow lands, but she would send into those employments men who were now filling positions that could be occupied by women. The doors of colleges should be thrown wide open to women; let them enter and become skilled physicians, and four-fifths of the women would prefer to pour into their ears the story of their weaknesses rather than tell them to the young men that are annually thrown upon the world from medical schools. And so it was with all the professions. Women should have free access to them. The might become ministers and lawyers and fill any profession they might choose. The idea was ridiculed that respectable women would be insulted in new spheres of work and action.

The scarifying of the Government clerks at Washington was fearful in its quiet severity. With her unsurpassable sarcasm she depicted the men who, while petitioning for twenty per cent. increase of their salaries, not only did not ask it for the woman clerks in the Treasury Department, but expressly requested that it should not be extended to them. At the time these men were receiving from $1,200 to $3,000 a year, no woman had more than $900. These gallant creatures are mostly single men, spending their all upon their precious, beloved selves: these sixty-five brave women are, all but eight, widows of brave men who fell in battle, with children to support; and against such women such men have circulated the most infamous stories, to drive them from their places.

The effect of bad training upon girls is only too apparent. Woman are struggling, striving and only ask of earth a grave. From want to starvation, from starvation to shame and death are the steps taken. Many painful incidents of working women's life in cities were recited, and some things rarely presented to men and women in public were boldly and delicately urged; among these the touching story of Hester Vaughn; which has excited such a warmth of sympathy throughout the land. The lecture closed with a peroration of beautifully worded sentences respecting the time when justice should be done to the sex.

The lecturer was frequently interrupted with storms of applause and at the conclusion was made the recipient of a hearty expression of gratification on the part of the audience.

—Elsewhere will be found the advertisement of Miss Dickinson's book, "What Answer?" by Fields, Osgood & Co., Boston. This work is very popular, and is having a large sale. It is a story of thrilling interest, and deals with important questions now agitating the public mind. The numerous friends of this gifted young woman would do well to get the work and read it for themselves.

THE COURTS.

District Court—Judge Hampton.

The first case called up was that of Wm. McKee vs. George W. Dithridge. This was an action to recover on a promissory note. Verdict for plaintiff for $2,156,60.

The next case on the list was that of the steamer Bob Connell vs. John O'Neil & Sons. Defendants are owners of coal works on the Monongahela river. The plaintiffs allege that defendants are indebted to them for towing barges to and from the O'Neil works, for which the suit is instituted. On trial.

On motion of Jackson Boggs, Esq., of Kittanning, John Gilpin, of the same place, was duly qualified and admitted as a practicing attorney of this court.

Judge Kirkpatrick filed an opinion overruling the motion for a new trial in the case of Cochran et. al. vs. Cochran et. al. This, it will be remembered, was an action to recover damages caused by a collision on the Ohio river, the trial of which was reported recently.

Following is the trial list for to-day:

53. Smith vs. Youghiogheny Iron and Coal Company.
61. Risher & Wilson vs. Bigley.

The jury in the cross suits between Michael Ryan, Jeremiah Hayley and James Sullivan on the one side, and George Bothwell, John McDonald, W. Alexander, John Gally and Jonathan Jones on the other, returned a verdict yesterday morning. Ryan, Hawley and Sullivan were found guilty of felonious assault and battery, and the other party was acquitted.

Frank Galligle, who was indicted for misdemeanor under the Livery Stable Act, was found guilty.

Frank Toner was placed on trial on an indictment charging him with committing an assault and battery upon James Harbison. The jury found a verdict of not guilty, and divided the costs between the parties.

Henry Meyer was tried on an indictment charging him with perjury. The charge was preferred by R. C. Howard, who alleged that defendant swore falsely in a case, in which he was interested, in the Court of Common Pleas. Jury out.

WHAT ARE YOU TAKING?

Probably two-thirds of the adult population of the United States indulge, more or less, in bar-room stimulants. Hot alcoholic beverages are habitually imbibed by thousands of people in the winter months to "keep out the cold." The alcoholic material of all these drinks is more or less poisonous, and is rendered all the more deleterious in consequence of being taken warm.

Avoid these dangerous excitements. Shun, as you would shun the deadliest drug, all tavern stimulants. They paralyze the digestion, congest the liver, disturb the natural action of the kidneys, irritate the bowels, shatter the nerves, and impair the reason.

The operation of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is diametrically opposite to this. They spur no organ into unnatural activity; but they tone and regulate all. If the digestion is feeble, they awaken the dormant energies of the stomach, and promote the work of assimilation. If the liver is sluggish and torpid, they regenerate it. If the kidneys fail to perform their functions properly, they are regulated without being irritated. If the bowels are constipated, the peristalic action is moderately increased, and the discharges become natural and regular. If the nerves are tremulous, they are strengthened. If the mind is clouded, the BITTERS tend to dispel the gloom.

These are the effects of the great VEGETABLE TONIC AND CORRECTIVE, which for twenty years has been a staple medicine in this country, and the demand for which steadily increases in all parts of the Western Hemisphere.

It is not offered as a beverage, but as a medicine; nor will it ever be used to satisfy a craving for alcoholic stimulants, because its effect is to check, not to create, a false appetite for excitants. The champions of temperance will do well to mark this peculiarity, and to recommend it as the only safe preparation containing alcohol, that can be used for medicinal purposes.

THE SOUND OF THE LUNGS.

One of the most accurate ways of determining whether the lungs are in a healthy or diseased condition, is by means of listening to the respiration. To those experienced in this practice it becomes as plain an index to the state of the lungs, and is as well known to the operator as are the voices of his most intimate acquaintances. The belief that long standing coughs, and diseases of the lungs upon which they are dependent, are incurable, are fast becoming obsolete. One great advantage to be gained from this advance in medical knowledge is the earlier application of those who become afflicted with those diseases to some one competent to afford relief. The error which had taken hold of the public mind in regard to the curability of consumption, or rather non-curability, is fast becoming obliterated, and it is well that it should be so, not that persons should lose that salutary fear which would make them apply for a timely remedy, but that all might be induced to use remedies while there is any hope. It is the delay in these cases that fills us with apprehension and alarm, for if every one would make timely application of DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE in the beginning of a cold or cough, few cases would go so far as to become irremediable.

Sold at the Doctor's great Medicine Store, No. 140 Wood street. WILL SHORTLY REMOVE TO HIS NEW STORE, NO. 16 LIBERTY STREET, SECOND DOOR FROM ST. CLAIR.

DR. KEYSER'S RESIDENT OFFICE FOR LUNG EXAMINATIONS AND THE TREATMENT OF OBSTINATE CHRONIC DISEASES, No. 120 PENN STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA. Office Hours from 9 A. M. until 4 P. M., and from 7 to 8 at night.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, January 25, 1869.

Gold, which opened strong at 136⅝, opened rather dull at 136¾, with a limited business. It is expected that lower quotations will be made just as soon as the cotton shipments are renewed again, when it is proposed by a clique of prominent operators to depress the market if possible to 134½ before purchasing again for a rise. Congressional legislation may also exercise some influence for at least a temporary decline; the gold brokers, however, still maintain that much higher quotations will be made on the beginning of February.

In Government bonds the market is firmer and higher, especially in 1865 new bonds, which are more in demand for investment, being equally as good as 1867s or 1868s, which have all along commanded about one-half per cent. The entire business is done by speculators who wish to influence the European markets and induce capitalists to buy, during a period when gold may rule above present quotations.

In stocks the market is firm and higher, manipulated by a bull clique, under Smith, Gould & Co., and assisted by the Vanderbilt and Erie party. Erie, however, is neglected, and is for the present abandoned until Cleveland, Fort Wayne, Ohio & Mississippi and Michigan Southern have nearly reached their highest point, when Erie will be run up likewise,

In local stocks some Allegheny Valley bonds are on the market at 79½ to 80; Connellsville at about 80 to 84, and stocks of the old banks can readily be sold above the latest sales at auction. Grain Elevator stock is held at 40.

Closing quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz: Gold, 136; Eighty-one's, 112½; Five Twenties, 1862, 112⅞; do, 1864, 109¼; do, 1865, 110⅛; do, 1865, new, 108½; do, 1867, 108½; do, 1868, 108¾; Ten Forties, 107¾; Railroads—Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 94; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago, 124; Chicago & Rock Island, 133½; Chicago & North Western, 83¾; do Preferred, 89½; Erie, 138¼; New York Central, 165½; Michigan Southern, 93¾; Reading, 97¼; Ohio & Mississippi Certificates, 38½; Western Union Telegraph Company, 36¾; Merchants Union Express Company, 17½; Pacific Mail, 121¾; Adams, 58½; Mining shares—Gregory, 2,70; Quartz Hill, 68; Smith & Parmele, 2,50; Corydon, 5.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, January 25, 1869.

The oil market was remarkably quiet again to-day, next to nothing done in the way of business, though the feeling, so far as we could discover, was fully as strong as it was on Saturday. While it is true that buyers were not as numerous as they were during the early part of last week, it is just as true, that there are but very few sellers, so that in this respect the one may be put as an offset against the other. Private cable telegrams report that the expeditions from the four principal ports last week were 31,000 bbls against 23,000 bbls the week preceeding. Hamburg is quoted at what is equivalent to 62 francs, which is a slight advance, compared with Saturday. Thus it will be seen, that there is but little change to note in the general situation compared with last week, excepting that business is not so active, and there is less excitement.

CRUDE.

The Crude market was exceedingly quiet to-day, not a single sale reported; prices, however, have undergone no quotable change. Spot oil (40 to 45) may be quoted at 17, and but very little on the market. Offers to buy next six months, seller, at 16½c; all year, seller, at 15½c, and all year, buyer, at 20c. Telegrams from Oil City report that market quiet but firm—holders asking $7 per bbl.

REFINED.

There was but a single sale reported to-day, 2,000 bbls for the last half of April, buyer's option, at 36c. We are cognizant of offers to buy January at 34¼ to 34½c; April to June at 36¼; April, alone, at 36¼, and, all year, buyers option, at 40c. As already intimated, the market was very quiet to-day, but as will be seen from the above, prices, compared with last week, have undergone no quotable change.

ALLEGHENY CATTLE MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, January 25, 1869.

CATTLE.

The supply of Cattle on sale to-day was not more than half as large as it was on last Monday, the whole number on sale only reaching about 650 head. The demand, however, was light, there being little or no inquiry for shipment, and the butchers seemed to take hold very slowly, even at last week's prices; some of them, it appeared, had bought a two week's supply last Monday, and, as a consequence, were not in market to-day. Prime retailing Cattle sold at 7½ to 8, and extra do at 8¼ to 8½; fair to medium at 5½ to 7, and "scalawags," such as old cows and rough oxen, stags and bulls, sold at 3½ to 4½. The sales reported as follows:

Hedges & Taylor retailed 30 head at 5 to 6,50; Holmes, Lafferty & Co. 70 at 4 to 6,60; Nicholas Carr 20 at 5 to 7,50; Smith & Blue 17 at 4,50 to 7,25; L. & J. Shamberg 25 at 4,50 to 8,50; Traurman & Lobman 47 at 4 to 7,75; Marks & Bro. 45 at 7 to 8; James Dolan 17 at 7,50 to 8,25; Hazlewood & Blackstock 60 at 4,50 to 8; Greenwald & Kahn 60 at 6 to 8; Haas & Kraus 60 at 5,50 to 8; Jas. McAllister 24 at 3,50 to 4; Zeigler & Keefer 19 at 6,50 to 7,75; Jacob Needy 62 at 5 to 8; M. Verner 31 at 4 to 5,50; Houston 10; Stakely & Bro. 19 at 4 to 5,50; L. Rothchilds 20 at 5,50 to 7,40.

SHEEP.

The supply of Sheep although not unusually large, was larger than last week, and with a dull market, considerably in excess of the demand. The whole number on sale was about fifteen hundred head, and while prime fat Sheep brought a good price, "scalawags" of which there was a full supply, had to be sold at low prices; we quote the former at 5 to 6 cts per pound, and the latter at $1,50 to $2 per head. The sales were as follows:

Clark retailed 200 at $2 to $3 per head; Garwin & Co; 200 at 3 to 5,50 cts per pound; C. Beeler, 269, $1,75 to $4 per head; C Maggie 53—unsold: held at 5,75 per pound; Flinner 90—unsold; held at 4,50 cts; Peter Sheitemantle 1,50; Jas Kerr, 60 at $2 to $3,80 per head; C H Moulton, 190 at $2 to $4,50 per head.

Holmes, Lafferty & Co, sold 56 scalawags for Scott at $1,25 per head; 35 lambs for same to Rnn at $1,65; retailed 105 head of good to prime fat sheep at 4,75 to 5,50.

HOGS.

The market was hardly as strong as it was this day week, and prices are shade lower, though still steep enough, in all conscience. We quote at 10,50 to 13 cts gross for light to prime heavy averages.

Holmes, Lafferty & Co; sold 11 for Tucker at 11; 7 for Copeland at 10,50; and 66 for Vanwagoner at 12 to 12,50.

N. Carr retailed 51 at 10 to 12,50; C. Metz retailed 40 at 11,50; Jacob Needy retailed 40 at 10,50 to 12; Emerick & Co., retailed at 11 to 13; Kahn, Boyer & Greenwald at 11 to 13.

NEW YORK, January 25.—Cattle Market.—Receipts for the week—55,900 beeves; 3,500 sheep and lambs; 7,339 hogs—from the date of our last report up the close of last week. Beef; market moderately active, with moderate arrivals; the prices for all grades were quiet and steady, ranging at 10a17¾c, the latter an extreme; to-day the arrivals were 1,900 head; market tolerably active; the demand was chiefly for the best grades; prices steady, at 10a17½c for inferior to extra; extra is quoted at 17½c; prime at 16¼a16¾c; fair to good at 15a16c; ordinary at 12a14c; inferior at 10a11c. Sheep and Lambs; soon after our last report the market was quiet, with fair receipts; the prices for common stock receded to ¼a¾c per pound, while those for good stock was quite steady on the closing day of the week; however, the market was strong for all kinds, and part of the above decline was recovered to-day. The supply and demand is fair and prices generally steady, ranging at from 5½c to 8½c for common western to extra Canada. The Hog market during the latter part of last week was quiet, business being restricted to the smallness of the arrivals. Prices are firm to-day, but the arrivals are diminutive, being only 1,200 head at Fortieth street and 1,138 head at Communipaw; market firm at 11½a11⅝c. Dressed Hogs advanced, closing at 14a14¼c for western and 14½a14¾c for city.

FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

CHEAP AND GOOD SMOKE HOUSE.

A Western New York farmer publishes his plan of a small, cheap and good smoke-house, which, as it may contain some practical hints to our readers, we append:

No farmer should be without a good smoke-house, and such a one as will be fire-proof and tolerably secure from thieves. Fifty hams can be smoked at one time in a smoke-house seven by eight feet square. Mine is six by seven and is large enough for most farmers. I first dug all the ground out below where the frost would reach and filled it up to the surface with small stones. On this I laid my brick floor, in lime mortar. The walls are brick, eight inches thick and seven feet high, with a door on one side two feet wide. The door should be made of wood and lined with sheet-iron. For the top I put on joists, two by four, set up edgewise, and eight and a half inches from center to center, covered with brick, and put on a heavy coat of mortar. I built a small chimney on the top in the center, arching it over and covering it with a single roof in the usual way. An arch should be built on the outside; with a small iron door to shut it up, similar to a stove door, with a hole from the arch through the wall of the smoke-house, and an iron grate over it. The arch is more convenient and better to put the fire inside the smoke-house, and the chimney causes a draft through into the smoke-house. Good corncobs or hickory wood are the best materials to make a smoke for hams. The cost of such a smoke-house as I describe is about twenty dollars.

HOW TO MAKE DOCILE HORSES.

The docility and amazing instinct of the Arab horse is shown to proceed mainly from constant association with the family of his owner—sharing their food, sleeping in their tent, and lastly from the early age at which he is broken in, which they say, checks the development of the spleen—a very important point in the opinion of the Arabs.

At the age of eighteen to twenty months the colt is mounted by a child, who takes him to water, goes in search of grass, or leads him to pasture. Nor to hurt the bars, he guides him with a longe or tolerably soft mule's bit. The child grows up a horseman, and the colt acquires the habit of carrying a weight proportioned to his strength. He learns to walk, to fear nothing, and it is in this manner, say the Arabs, that we contrive never to have restive horses.

For the first few days the bit is covered with undressed wool, partly with a view not to hurt his bars, and partly to allure him to docility by the saltish flavor of which he is so fond. When he begins to champ the bit, the task is nearly finished. The preparatory exercise takes place morning and evening. Thus sagaciously handled, the young animal will be ready to be mounted in the early part of the autumn—when he will be less tormented by the flies and heat. Wealthy owners, before they allow their colts to be mounted by a grown up man, sometimes have him led up and down gently for a fortnight with a pack saddle on his back, supporting two baskets filled with sand.

When he is about thirty months old, the colt is taught not to break loose from his rider when the latter sets foot on earth, and not even to stir from the spot where the bridle has been passed over his head and allowed to drag on the gronnd. Especial care is taken in teaching this lesson, because it is one of great importance in Arab life.—Exchange.

THE SECRETS OF CHEAP PORK.

There several of these secrets known to the initiated. First—a good breed. You may stuff any of the land-pikes with any quantity of corn and he will not fatten. Suffolks, Chester Whites, or grades of any pure breed, will show their keeping. Second—good housing. A pig wants a nice, clean, dry pen to sleep in. The yard may have much and plenty of litter for manure making, but the pen, or sleeping apartment, should be warm and well strawed. Third—early fattening. Pork is made much more economically in warm weather than in cold. Fourth—a variety of food. If cooked Indian meal is the staple, let it be varied with green food while it lasts, corn-stalks, weeds, purslane, and clover, and, in winter, feed enough cabbage and roots to keep the bowels in good condition. Fifth—regular feeding, three times a day. A fattening pig should never squeel, and he will not if he always finds his food ready at the regular time. Calculate to have your pork worth no more, and perhaps a little less, than the feed costs, and find all your profits in the grand heap of rich manure which the dying porker leaves as a legacy. These secrets make cheap pork in our pen, even at the present price of corn.

RECEIPTS.

The following receipts were prepared for the Cincinnati Enquirer from which we clip them.

Tea Cakes—six cups of flour; four teaspoons cream tartar, mixed well into the flour; one cup of butter; four beaten eggs; two cups of milk; two teaspoons of soda.

Soda Biscuit—Have one quart of flour; two teaspoonfuls of cream tartar rubbed into the flour, with a lump of butter the size of an egg. Dissolve a teaspoonful of soda in a pint of sweet milk; add a teaspoonful of salt; mix them as quick as possible to roll out nicely, and bake in a quick oven.

Flannel Cakes—Four eggs, beat the whites and yolks separately; one quart of sweet milk; stir the flour into the milk until it becomes quite thick; mix in your yolks, and add a teaspoonful of salt; add three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, mixing all thoroughly; and lastly add the white of egg well beaten. You can not fail to have good cakes.

Corn Cakes.—Sift your corn meal, have a quart of sweet milk, take three table spoonfuls of meal and scald it, pour in your milk, add a table-spoonful of sugar, four desert-spoonfuls of baking powder, a little salt, and three eggs beaten separately, mixing the white in last. Sour milk can be used, with a teaspoonful of soda.

Corn Bread.—Have one quart of warm sweet milk, four well beaten eggs, a table-spoonful of melted butter, and a teaspoonful of sugar, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, mix all the ingredients into the milk, and then stir in sifted meal, until it forms a thick batter, pour the mixture into a bread pan and bake it.

Cup Cake.—One cup of butter, two cups of sugar mixed with butter, four eggs beaten separately, mix the yolks in with butter and sugar, three cups of flour, one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in half a cup of sour milk, half a nutmeg, a tablespoonful of rose water, or brandy, stir in the flour until you think the batter is sufficiently thick. If too thick the cake will not be good. With all cakes take about two table spoonfuls of the batter, bake in a small pan; when done if it fails you can add more flour, and in this way test the cake, before spoiling the mixture.

Jell Cake.—One cup of sweet milk, one small cup of sugar, three teaspoons of baking powder, very little salt, half a nutmeg; mix very thin with sifted flour; bake thin and quick.

Railroad Sponge Cake.—One coffee-cup of sugar, three eggs, well beaten, one coffee-cup of flour, two teaspoons of baking powder, one large spoonful of sweet milk; use any kind of extract.

Cheap Cake for Tea.—Two cups of sugar, two cups of sweet milk, three cups of flour, sifted, three teaspoons of baking-powder. one large spoonful of melted butter, spice to taste.

Mince Pies.—Eight pounds of apples, four pounds of beef, boiled tender, a pound and a quarter of suet, two pounds of sugar, half a gallon of cider, or Madeira wine, a wine glass of brandy, one nutmeg, two ounces of cinnamon, one ounce of cloves, a quarter of a pound of citron, two pounds of raisins, chop all fine, and mix well.

Lemon Pie.—Take three large, juicy lemons, grate the yellow rind into a pan; roll the lemons until soft; squeeze out the juice into a cup, then take half a cup of butter and two cups of sugar, and mix them to a cream, take four eggs, beat them well, and add to the creamed sugar; pour all in the pan with the yellow or grated rinds, mix thoroughly; lastly stir in the lemon juice; bake with an undercrust and you will have one of the best lemon pies ever eaten.

Naturalization in Our Own Courts.

We annex a copy of the bill introduced by Mr. Hong, in the Pennsylvania Senate:

SECTION 1. That the several Courts of this Commonwealth authorized by an act of Congress to admit aliens to become citizens of the United States, shall require the petition of such alien to be presented in open Court by the petitioner, or by his attorney duly authorized to practice in such Courts, on the first Monday of each month, when in session, which day is hereby appointed for such purpose.

SEC. 5. If any prothonotary, clerk, or the deputy, or clerk of either, or any other person, shall affix the seal of office to any naturalization paper, or duplicate thereof, or give out the same in blank, whereby it may be fraudulently used, or furnish a naturalization certificate, or duplicate thereof, to any person who shall not have been duly examined and sworn in open court, in the presence of some of the judges thereof, according to the act of Congress, and agreeably to the provisions of this act, he shall be guilty of a high misdemeanor; or if any person shall fraudulently use any such certificate of naturalization, or duplicate thereof, knowing that it was fraudulently issued, and shall vote, or attempt to vote thereon, he shall be guilty of a high misdemeanor, and either or any of the said persons, their aiders, or abettors, guilty of either of the misdemeanors aforesaid, shall, on conviction, be fined in a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars, and imprisoned in the proper penitentiary for a period not exceeding three years.

SEC. 6. Railway Items.

The Cleveland Leader says: The Ashtabula and New Lisbon Railroad was sold on Tuesday to Jay Gould, Esq., President of the New York and Erie Railroad, for two hundred thousand dollars. What the Erie railway wants of this road we cannot as yet conjecture, but if the new proprietors will push the road to completion, as it is doubtless their purpose, they will confer a great benefit on the people of northeastern Ohio.

The Toledo, Wabash and Western has connections with thirteen different railroads, and these connections reach almost every point of importance in the West and South-west by the most direct routes. The New York Central managers are said to be striving to secure control of the line. The company have now in contemplation the construction of a branch air-line road, 100 miles long, from Decatur, Illinois, to St. Louis, and it is probable the work will be commenced early in the spring.

ENON VALLEY, PA.

A New Era Dawning—Its Growth and Improvement—Chances for Capitalists.

ENON VALLEY, Jan. 19, 1869.

Our village, which has been so long in a fossil state, is beginning to witness the dawn of a new era. It now shows signs of the return of its primitive vigor and vitality, and bids fair to become an enterprising town. The land owners of this place were for a long time dead to the idea of progress, and did much to discourage immigration by holding their lots at rates beyond the reach of the masses. Experience, which is the best of teachers, although often an expensive one, has taught them that the best way to make the most out of what they have, is to sell at reasonable prices, within the reach of the laboring classes. Much of this radical change is due to Mr. J. C. Wilson, who is selling lots upon his farm, near town, Enon is situated in a healthy locality, and well watered and surrounded by a good country. It is about midway between Pittsburgh and Alliance, on the P. Ft. W. & C. R. R. Its railroad advantages are possessed by few. All trains stop here, and ere long we expect to have an accommodation train, which will increase our facilities for going to and from the city. The ground has been selected for an extensive grist mill, and parties are negotiating for a sash factory. The chief cause of this new state of things is the erection of the repair shops of the railroad company, and the prospective coal operations. A shaft is being sunk near this place for block coal, which we doubt not will redound greatly to the benefit of our place. Enon is not one of those sensation paper towns we hear so much about. Those interested in its welfare desire that it shall grow of its own inherent strength. Grow up naturally, so that when developed it will have stamina sufficient to sustain it. I would say to persons of moderate means desiring to get a start in the world that Enon now offers good inducements for enterprise, and will afford a good return for capital invested. Owing to the weather operations are not as brisk as we would like to see them, but with the return of Spring we anticipate the renewal of life and activity. I will keep your readers posted as to the progress we are making. I leave them for the present. U.

Alabama Legislature—A Legal Question.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., January 23.—In a recent press dispatch from this city it was stated, on the authority of the Columbiana Guide, that Circuit Judge Pelham had decided that the Alabama Legislature was not a legal body, and that Wm. H. Smith was not the legal Governor. The dispatch correctly represented the statement of the paper referred to, but the facts of the case are these: A vacancy in the office of Probate Judge of Shelby county was reported by the Governor, who was required by the Constitution to issue a commission to fill the vacancy. Afterwards a question arose as to whether there was really a vacancy. In determining this question Judge Peckham decided that if the vacancy had not occurred in the manner prescribed by law, the Governor's commission designating another man for office was null and void. The decision no way relates to the validity of either the Legislature or the Governor's office.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Fined.—Jonathan Gwin was fined $10 yesterday by Mayor Drum for driving a lot of sheep through Allegheny on Sunday afternoon, in violation of a city ordinance.

Postponed.—Owing to the non-attendance of a majority of the members, the Allegheny Police Committee failed to have a meeting last evening. Another has been called for Friday evening next.

Lost.—A key ring, containing four keys, was lost on Grant street between Diamond street and Fourth Avenue, Monday evening. Any person finding the same will confer a favor by leaving them at this office.

Accident to a Hose Carriage.—The Duquesne hose carriage broke down on Saturday night while proceeding to the fire at Faber's machine shop. It will be out of service for a few days until the damage is repaired.

Crushed to Death.—Washington Bell, son of the proprietor of a coal works at Mansfield, while engaged in coupling some cars, on the siding at the works on Thursday last, was caught between the bumpers and crushed to death.

We call the attention of our readers to the dwelling house and office situated at 180 Federal street, Allegheny, under advertisements For Rent in to-day's paper. This house and office is in a very desirable location and is well adapted for a physician or any one wishing to live near his place of business. For terms, &c., apply at William Semple's dry goods store, No. 180 Federal street, Allegheny.

Loafers.—Mayor Drum yesterday morning fined three young men named Gaber, Murphy and Gabbie five dollars each and costs for loafing at the corner of Cedar avenue and Ohio street, Sunday evening, and insulting ladies as they passed by. Three others were also arrested for loafing about the door of the German Church, East Lane, on the same evening. They were discharged upon payment of a fine of three dollars.

Caught Again.—Thomas Johnson, a lad charged with stealing iron from the metal yard of William Varnum, Allegheny, was committed to jail yesterday by Alderman Eggers, of the Eighth ward. This is an old case. Some time ago Johnson was arrested for the offence, but while being taken to jail, made his escape from the officer and managed to keep out of the way until yesterday. The officer made safe work of him the second time.

Officers Elected.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Pittsburgh & McKeesport Car Company, held at the office of Craig Brothers, at half-past ten o'clock yesterday, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President: W. H. Brown.
Secretary: T. J. Craig.
Treasurer: R. C. Loomis.
Directors: W. H. Brown, J. N. Shellenberger, R. C. Loomis, T. J. Craig, J. F. Dravo, W. Douglass, Jas. O'Neill.

An Evening of Sacred Song.—Mr. Philip Phillips, of New York, gave one of his heart-stirring entertainments last evening in the Protestant Methodist Church on Fifth avenue. The music was nearly all sacred, and all of it simple and familiar; but as rendered by Mr. Phillips, at times assisted by Mr. Davis, with his illimitable bass, gave great pleasure and satisfaction to the very large audience present. Parts of the exercises were exceedingly impressive, and will not soon be forgotten.

Coroner's Inquest.—Coroner Clawson held an inquest yesterday on the body of Mrs. Means, an aged German lady, who died suddenly Sunday afternoon at the residence of her son, on Pennsylvania avenue, in the Eighth ward. Deceased was about eighty years of age, and had been in this country about eighteen years. She had been somewhat indisposed, and Sunday afternoon, as we have said, died suddenly. The investigation yesterday showed that she died of paralysis, and a verdict to that effect was rendered.

Serious Cutting Affray.—A serious cutting affray occurred at Fairview Station, on the West Pennsylvania railroad, about two o'clock Sunday afternoon, between Wm. F. Furguson and "Mannassass" Sheridan, during which the latter received two severe stabs, one on the top of the head extending down to the right eye, and the other in the left breast. The parties had come to this city on the church train in the morning, when they got into a quarrel, which was renewed on their return. Information was made before a justice of the peace in Sharpsburg against Furguson, who it appears made his escape immediately after the cutting, and he has not since been heard from.

Pittsburgh Female College.

This well known and popular educational institution continues to flourish, and is gaining influence and favor every day. The last half of the winter term, just commenced, is even more largely attended than any previous term, there being but one vacancy in the boarding department. This is certainly a gratifying exhibit, and evinces in a more forcible degree than any language, the appreciation and esteem in which the institution is held. President Pershing and his able corps of assistants have reason to be proud of the success attending their efforts.

Serious Accident.

A serious accident occurred yesterday morning at Coleman's Mills, in the Twelfth ward, by which William Yost was severely injured. Mr. Yost was employed at the mill, and while engaged at his work the sleeve on his right arm was caught in the coupling of some shafting, and his arm, being drawn swiftly around with the shafting, was broken and torn apart above the elbow, the hand and forearm remaining attached to the shaft. The injured man was conveyed at once to the office of Dr. C. Y. Jacoby, and after an examination it was found necessary to take the arm off at the shoulder joint. This was promptly done by Dr. James Robinson, assisted by Drs. C. Y. Jacoby and L. F. Arensberg. The patient is doing as well as could be expected.

A Disreputable Practice.

There are few men connected with the cattle business in Allegheny, who do not attend the stock yard on Sunday, thus getting the choice, and ahead of their more conscientious and reverential fellow traders. Time and again, complaints have been made to the authorities in regard to this practice, but owing to the difficulty of making out a positive case, the offenders have escaped punishment. Yesterday, a couple of dealers named respectively C. H. Boulton and John Clark, were arrested for engaging in this practice, and after a hearing, fined each twenty-five dollars and costs, according to the city ordinance. They paid their fine and departed, evidently with a determination to be more careful in their future operations.

CITY COUNCILS.

First Regular Monthly Meeting of the New City Councils.

The first regular monthly meeting of the new City Councils was held yesterday (Monday), January 25th, 1869, at two o'clock, P. M.

Select Council.

Members Present—Messrs. Ahlborn, Ahl, Armstrong, Burgwin, Coffin, Craig, Dickson, Edwards, Gallaher, Gross, Hailman, Hartman, Holmes, Herron, Jones, Kane, Kehew, Kirk, Laufman, Littell, Lloyd, Marshall, Morrow, Murray, Murdoch, McEwen, McMahon, Quinn, Rafferty, Rees, Rush, Scully, Shipton, Schmidt, Torrens, Wainwright Z., Wainwright S. J., Wilson, White, Zern, McAuley.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Mr. A. H. Gross not being present at the meeting of organization, presented himself and the oath of office was administered to him by the chairman.

Mr. Shipton presented the bill of John Boyd against the city for lowering stop cocks and water paves, and moved its reference to the Street Committee.

Mr. Coffin moved to lay the matter on the table. The motion was adopted.

Mr. McEwen presented a petition for a change of grade on Cliff street. Referred to Street Committee.

Mr. Smith, a petition for a boardwalk in the Sixteenth ward. Referred to the Street Committee.

Mr. Edwards, a petition for the widening and straightening of the Puckety road. Referred to the Road Committee.

Mr. Jones presented an ordinance consolidating the three road districts into one district, and appointing Capt. John Vandegrift Commissioner for the ensuing year.

Mr. Morrow moved to amend by inserting the words "and hereafter the Commissioner shall be elected annually, as other city officers are."

After considerable discussion the amendment was adopted.

Mr. Gross moved a suspension of the rules and the passage of the ordinance.

Mr. Holmes moved to amend by fixing the salary at $1,000 instead of $1,200, as the ordinance provided. The amendment was lost.

The question recurred on the original motion and the rules were suspended and the ordinance passed finally.

Mr. Gross submitted a report of the City Controller, stating that the Finance Committee had appointed J. F. Slagle, Esq., City Solicitor. Accompanying the ordinance was a resolution confirming the appointment. The report was received and the resolution adopted.

Mr. Gross, a draft of an act of Assembly, providing for the registry of lots with the names of owners, dates of transfers, etc., for the city.

On motion of Mr. Morrow, the bill was received and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Zern presented a petition from Hussey, Wells & Co., asking permission to erect an iron clad building on Seventeenth street, between Pike and Butler. Accompanying the petition was an ordinance granting the privilege.

The petition was received and the ordinance read three times and passed. C. C. non-concurred and referred the matter to the Committee on Wooden Buildings.

Mr. Smith, petition for a board walk on Penn street. Referred to the Committee on Streets.

Mr. Armstrong, petition for water pipe on Mulberry alley. Referred to the Water Committee.

Mr. Craig, a communication from the Central Board of Education, asking the appointment of a Committee of three to audit the accounts of said Board. The communication was received, and Mr. Edwards, from Select Council, appointed. Messrs. Reed and Pearson appointed in C. C.

The Chair read a communication from the Board of Health, announcing that there were three vacancies in said Board. The communication was received, and the clerk directed to notify Common Council that Select Council was ready to meet them in joint session to fill the vacancies in said Board.

Mr. Morrow presented a remonstrance from residents on Bluff street, against the grading of said street. Referred to the Street Committee, with instructions to withhold the contract for the present.

Mr. Ahlborn presented a bill of the contractor for the construction of a sewer in the Fifteenth ward. Referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. McAuley, Mr. Gross in the chair, presented a memorial from W. F. Stanton, asking to be relieved from the assessment for the grading of Forbes street.

Mr. McAuley stated that as a member of Council he could not vote for relinquishing the tax, but he thought it a hard case and was willing to pay a portion of it himself if the members would join him. It was agreed that the members of Councils as individuals would foot the bill. The petition was received.

Mr. Ahlborn presented an ordinance providing for a temporary loan of five thousand dollars for the purpose of paying interest on the bonds of Lawrenceville. The rules were suspended and the ordinance passed finally.

Mr. Reese, from the Police Committee, presented a resolution providing that the police force should consist of one hundred and twenty-five men for the ensuing year, instead of one hundred.

Mr. McAuley moved to lay the resolution on the table. The motion prevailed.

Mr. Coffin presented an ordinance providing that seventy-five per cent. of the contract price for all city contracts shall be paid when the work is completed. Referred to the Street Committee.

Mr. Edwards presented a resolution instructing the Road Committee to inquire into the condition of the East Liberty and Penn township plank road within the city limits, and if in their judgment the Company has forfeited its rights, to institute legal proceedings against said Company. Referred to the Road Committee.

On motion, adjourned.

Common Council.

Council came to order at half-past two o'clock, President Tomlinson in the chair. The Clerk, Mr. H. McMaster, called the roll, when the following members answered to their names:

Messrs. Ardary, Anderson, Batchelor, Barton, Barr, Black, Berger, Bell, Boggs, Booth, Bulger, Carrol, Caskey, Case, Chislett, Dain, Daub, Dunseath, Fleming, Gerner, Gildenfenney, Hare, House, Houston, Jamison, Jahn, Jones, Kremer, Lanahan, Meanor, Meyer, Moore, Moorhead, Morgan, Morton, McCarthy, McClarren, McCandless, McMasters, McCleane, McKelvey, Nixon, Pearson, Penney, Potts, Reed, Rebman, Rosewell, Rook, Seiferth, Sims, Shott, Scott, Verner, Vetter, Vick, Waughter, Weldon, Welsh, Weisenberger, Wilson and President Tomlinson.

On motion of Mr. McCarthy, the oath of office was administered to Mr. Barton, of the Twentieth ward.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were then read and approved.

Mr. Fleming presented a petition from citizens of the Seventh ward, asking that the new Hook and Ladder Truck, purchased for the use of the fire department, be located in that ward with the Fort Pitt Hook and Ladder Company, recently organized.

Mr. Fleming called attention to the unequal distribution of fire apparatus, the upper or hill wards having none within their boundaries, and urged the necessity for more adequate fire protection in that portion of the city. He moved that the prayer of the petitioners be granted. It appeared, however, to be the wish of Council that the Committee on Fire Engines and Hose should consider the matter, and, on motion of Mr. Morgan, the petition was referred to that Committee.

Mr. McCandless, petition from citizens on Webster avenue asking for the grading and paving of said avenue from Roberts to Kirkpatrick streets.

The petition was accompanied by a resolution instructing the Street Committee to prepare an ordinance to that effect. Both papers were referred to the Street Committee.

Mr. McCandless, a resolution for a gas lamp on Granville street, at the public school house. Referred to the Committee on Gas Lighting.

Mr. Reed, a remonstrance from property holders on Centre avenue, Eleventh ward, against the erection of a stone wall on said avenue, near Madison street. Referred to the Street Committee.

Mr. Welsh, a petition from Messrs. Chase, Reitz & Co. asking for privilege to rebuild an iron clad planing mill at No. 356 Penn street, in place of the one recently destroyed by fire. Referred to Committee on Wooden Buildings.

Mr. McCleane presented the following:

Resolved, That the money now in the hands of the late Treasurer of Oakland township be and is hereby appropriated to paying part of the expense of grading Forbes street from Madison to Bradv street. Referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Pearson, a petition asking for the erection of a building for the use of the of the Lawrence Hose Company on a lot of ground purchased for that purpose in the Seventeenth ward. Referred to the Committee on City Property.

Also, a petition from citizens in the Fifteenth and Sixteenth wards, asking that the dwellings in said wards be numbered. Referred to Committee on Streets.

Mr. Batchelor presented the draft of an act incorporating the East End Gas Company, of Pittsburgh, accompanied by a resolution recommending the passage of the act by the Legislature.

In presenting the paper the gentleman moved a suspension of the rules and the final passage of the resolution on its third reading.

After some discussion, the paper and resolution were referred to the Gas Committee.

Mr. Batchelor, a petition from Pittsburgh, Allegheny and Spring Garden Passenger Railway Company, asking for the right of way on Liberty and Hand streets to the Hand street bridge. Referred to the Street Committee.

Mr. Morgan offered the following:

Resolved, That the City Engineer, in conjunction with the Street Committee, prepare and offer to Councils for adoption a plan for a general plan of sewerage for the drainage of the city and private property, showing the depth, location, size, &c., &c.

Adopted.

Mr. Morton, petition from citizens in the Twenty-second and Twenty-third wards asking for a survey of the Four Mile Run Road. Referred to Committee on Surveys.

The Clerk was instructed to notify Select Council that Common Council was ready to meet them in joint session for the purpose of electing members to fill the vacancies in the Board of Health.

JOINT SESSION.

The joint session was held in the Common Council chamber, President McAuley of the Select Branch presiding. The President stated the object of the meeting to be the election of three members to fill vacancies in the Board of Health.

Nominations being in order, the following gentlemen were named: Dr. James King, Dr. A. C. Murdock, Wm. B. Hays, Jr., Frank Ardary, Edward House, Henry Lloyd, James McCune and Dr. T. J. Gallaher.

The members voted viva voce with the following result:

Ardary	79	Lloyd	35
Hays	51	Gallaher	29
House	53	Murdoch	14
McCune	23	King	21

The President announced that fifty-two votes were necessary for a choice. Messrs. Ardary and House were accordingly elected.

On motion of Mr. McCarthy, Mr. Hays was elected unanimously as the third member.

Joint session then adiourned.

SELECT COUNCIL BUSINESS.

After the adjournment of the joint session, the business of the Select Council was taken up, when the ordinance relative to consolidating the Road Districts, and the appointing of one Commissioner for the same, was prepresented. Objection was made to concurring in the action of Select Council in approving the same, by Messrs. Scott, Hare, Jones and Morton, on the ground that it would increase the expenditures and in practice would not be as effective as the old system.

Messrs. Batchelor, McCleane and McMasters spoke in favor of concurring in the action of the Select Council, and explained that the Committee having the matter in charge, after a careful consideration of its merits, had reported the ordinance, believing that the proposed plan would decrease the expenditures and be found to work much better than the system at present pursued.

After some considerable discussion, Mr. Hare called for the yeas and nays.

Mr. M'Candless rose to a point of order, stating that any ordinance requiring the expenditure of money must be laid over under the rules if objection to its passage was made.

The Chair decided the point of order well taken.

Mr. McCarthy moved a suspension of the rules and the passage of the ordinance on its third reading. Lost.

The ordinance was finally laid over under the rules.

The resolution appointing a Committee to investigate the accounts of the City Gauger, in accordance with a communication from the Controller, was next taken up, concurred in, and Messrs. Reed, Barton and Weisenberger appointed by the Chair to act in conjunction with Committee from Select Council.

In all business not otherwise noted, C. C. concurred.

Mr. Morgan offered an ordinance changing the rates for weighing coal in the city, and establishing rules and regulations for the same. Referred to Ordinance Committee.

On motion, adjourned.

ANNIVERSARY.

Celebration of the CXth Anniversary of the Death of Scotland's National Poet, Robert Burns, the Ploughboy.

—"Read the names that know not death,
Few nobler ones than Burns are there,
And few have won a greener wreath
Than that which binds his hair."

One hundred and ten years ago yesterday came into life, surrounded by no pomp or show, but in humbleness and obscurity, an infant consecrated to the muses and destined to fill the world with admiration, and make for himself a name that will never die while there is an honest Scottish heart beneath the plaid, or while English literature is extant. A century and decade of swift rolling years have passed away since birth was given near the town of Ayr, the Kirk of Alloway, and the "Auld brig o' Doon" to Robert Burns, the sweet song writer, whose poetry, gushing from a heart free from the gules of sin and wickedness, but filled with purity and love, found way into the affections of the people, and with the author, was enshrined to there remain forever. The Scottish people center much national pride in the poet who found birth in their land and fame, in the world of letters, and cherish his memory with a reverence and respect which does credit to their hearts, and mirrors the patriotism and love of country which wells within their bosoms. No class of citizens in these communities occupy higher social position than the Scotch, none are more worthy place in intellectual circles, none truer to the land they have left with its memories and legends, its song and story; and yet none are more devoted to the new homes they enjoy, none truer to the flag of our country, none more zealous in advancing the cause of Liberty and Equality, and in sustaining the Republic, with its noble institutions and blessed peculiarities, to which they have acknowledged allegiance. With their devotion to the fine arts, national pride and love of song and poetry, they would not permit the anniversary of the birth of Burns to pass by unheeded as any ordinary day of the calendar, but to the contrary mark each returning occasion in a fitting and appropriate manner.

It was in accordance with this custom that last night an assemblage of several hundred persons, ladies and gentlemen, gathered together in the lecture room of the Second United Presbyterian Church in Allegheny, to celebrate the CXth anniversary of the birth of the poet. The party was made up of our most respected citizens, chiefly Scotch and of Scotch extraction, and was so constituted as to secure a pleasant and enjoyable evening.

At eight o'clck the guests were seated at sundry tables arranged with exquisite taste and neatness, and groaning beneath the weight of the good things spread upon them. Divine blessing was invoked by Rev. Dr. Allison, in a fervent and eloquent appeal to the Throne of Grace, after which the good things spread disappeared before the company, who displayed as much energy of appetite as would have done credit to the proverbial American diners.

At an interval of the courses at the supper, agreeably to usage at such occasions, Burn's address to a haggis,

"Fair fa' your honest, sonsie face,
Great Chieftain o' the puddin race!
Aboon them a' ye tak your place Painch, tripe or thairm,
Weel are ye wordy of a grace's as lang's my arm," &c.,

was read in a clever manner by M. Arthur Kirk, whose idiom was faultless, and suiting the words to the third verse with action, caused much merriment by plunging his knife "trenching the gushing entrails bright" into the haggis (the same as an American white pudding) and serving it around the boards.

After the cloths were removed, on motion of Mr. John Brown, Jr., the meeting organized by selecting the following officers:

President—A. Leggate, Esq.

Vice Presidents—Messrs. Wm. Walker, Robt. Forrester, D. Dallas, Arthur Kirk, Robt. Henderson.

Secretaries—Messrs. Wm. Semple and Wm. Hamilton.

On assuming the chair the President, Mr. A. Leggate, in a felicitous manner briefly addressed the company, returning his thanks for the honor conferred and wittily urging his friends to enjoy themselves on the happy occasion in such manner as to furnish a display of spontaneous combustion.

The following letters of regret were then read by the Secretary:

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5, 1869.

Messrs. Wm. Semple and others, Committee:

GENTLEMEN: Your invitation to attend the "Burns Birthday" Festival (with accompanying complimentary tickets) came duly to hand, for which please accept my best thanks. I sincerely regret that business engagements, which cannot be postponed, will prevent me from being present and joining with you in doing honor to the memory of one of "Auld Scotia's" noblest sons and sweetest poets. And in paying my meed of homage to the Bard who

"In either donce or merry tale
Or rhymes and sang's he'd made himsel'
Or witty catch
Tween Inverness and Teviotdale
He'd not a match."

For although no Scottish blood runs in my veins I am proud to say that I can number among all my acquaintances no warmer friends than those who hail from the "Land O' Cakes."

I trust that your Festival will afford all of you even more enjoyment than you anticipate, and that as the

"Night draws on wi' sangs and clatter"
You'll find the ale ay growing better.

I beg of you to do me the favor of reading as my toast "Scotland,"

The land o' honest men
And bonny lasses.

In conclusion let me appropriate as my own the lines of another Scottish poet:

"May peace and plenty be the lot,
Peace and plenty, peace and plenty,
Peace and plenty, be his lot,
And dalties a great share o' 'em,
May peace and plenty, be his let
Unstained by any vicious spot,
And may he never want a groat
That's fond o' Tullochgorum."

With much respect,
I am yours truly,
WM. E. ALBRIGHT.

The following message was read from Jno. Sheddon, Esq., President of the Burns' Association of Philadelphia:

PHILADELPHIA, January 25, 1869.

The Burns' Association of Philadelphia, to the Burns' Club of Allegheny City Greeting:

The memory of Robt. Burns', one of God's revelations to Man. By the purity and force of his genius, despite the creeds, assumption, and Tinsel, worshipped by the world. Saw with Prophetic vision and heroically declared.

"The Rank is but Gamea's stamp. The Man the Gold.

To this the following reply was read in place and forwarded:

ALLEGHENY, January 25, 1869.

The Burns Celebration to the Burns Association of Philadelphia, Greeting:

The Immortal Memory of Robert Burns. Let his spirit like an omnipresent harmony, reign supremely in our hearts to night, and let us make the air we breathe vocal with the sweet melody of his songs. A. LEGGATE, President.

The President then offered the sentiment of "the day we celebrate," introducing it with a happy commentary on the humble origin and wonderful genius of the Scottish Bard; quoting liberally from his works, which were selected with good taste and spiritedly rendered, exhibiting the highest element of true eloquence, giving unerring evidence that while his words were from the immortal poet, the sentiment came gushing from his own heart.

"Happy are we" was then rendered in their usual exquisite style of vocalization by Prof. Slack's popular quartette club.

The second regular toast was "To the lasses." Responded to by Rev. Mr. Albright by letter, that gentleman having been detained abroad. The missive, abounding in poetical selections from Burns' writings, elicited the heartiest admiration. It concluded with the sentiment "The land of honest men and bonnie lasses."

"Barring the Door" was sung with charming grace and spirit by Mr. W. A. Ellis, who responded to aclamorous encore by singing with inimitable humor "Glasgow Fair."

"Poets and Poetry of Scotland" was the next sentiment to which, according to programme, Mr. A. Carnagie was to have responded; but owing to the detention of at home by sickness, the company was deprived of listening to that gentleman, whose resources of wit and humor has made him famous. We were among those who deplored his absence, as he would have contributed largely to the general enjovment.

Mr. William Hamilton, in response to invitation, sang with much gusto "Heather Hill," which so pleased his audience that he was again drawn upon for "Allister McCallister," which he rendered with much spirit and good taste. The Allegheny Quartette Club sang with fine effect "Union, God and Liberty," after which the "United States" were toasted, followed by "Allegheny City," and "There is no place like Home." Song, sentiment and speech making followed, but owing to the lateness of the hour we were forced to depart, reluctant to leave the good natured party behind us, but the press wouldn't wait, and we couldn't tarry. In conclusion, we must say that the celebration reflected much credit to the association under whose auspices it was held, and to our Scotch people generally. We congratulate the managers on the excellent choice made in selecting Mr. Leggate as presiding officer for the occasion. He has genius for such affairs which enables him to so direct and manage that all may enjoy themselves, and to fill up all interstices of time and circumstances in such a manner as to prove conducive to the general pleasure.

Fire in Birmingham—Pittsburgh Glass Works Destroyed.

A fire occurred in Birmingham about eleven o'clock A. M. yesterday, (Monday,) by which the Pittsburgh Glass Works, located at the corner of Washington and Joseph streets, were totally destroyed. The fire originated in the packing room, where there was a large quantity of straw and other inflammable material, and in less than twenty minutes the entire building was in flames. The works were owned by Messrs. D. McAfee, Samuel Taylor, McCombs, Totten and Captain E. S. Wright. They were in operation when the fire broke out, and the flames spread with such great rapidity that several of the employes narrowly escaped falling a prey to the devouring element. A number of buildings in the vicinity were in imminent danger of destruction, several of them being on fire at one time, but through the efforts of the firemen and citizens who had assembled at the scene of conflagration the flames were subdued and confined to the building in which they originated. The building was a frame structure and consequently burned very rapidly. We were unable to ascertain the extent of the loss, but presume it will be quite heavy, as there was a considerable quantity of stock on hand and the building was comparatively new.

—Since writing the above we learn that the loss is estimated at $20,000, upon which there was an insurance of $15,300 in the following companies: Actual $5,200; Albany $2,500; Putnam $2,500. Commercial exchange $2,550; International $2,550.

A Foundling.

A male child, supposed to be about four months old, was left at the house of Mr. Evan Davis, Carson street, South Pittsburgh, about half-past six o'clock last evening. The child was discovered by a gentleman who had called at Mr. D's about half-past five o'clock in the evening, and was about to take his departure, when, accompanied by a lady, he proceeded to the front door, and upon opening the inside door found the littie waif lying between that and the outer door, enveloped in an old shawl. Upon removing the shawl the clothing on the child were found to be neat and clean. Mr. D. having no way of taking proper care of the youngster, went to Mayor Blackmore to know what he should do with it. He was directed to take it to Mr. R. H. Davis, Director of the Poor of Allegheny County, but as the hour was too late to find that gentleman, a lady was found who consented to take charge of the child until this morning, when it will be turned over to Mr. Davis. Mr. Davis has not the slightest idea from whence the child came, and there was nothing about it that would likely lead to the discovery of who its parents were.

Drugs, Perfumeries, &c.

Drugs, perfumeries and articles of a similar character, when needed at all, are always required to be pure and genuine, and the establishment which is known to keep a stock of this description hand must, as a consequence, become successful and popular. Such an establishment is that of Mr. James T. Sample, at the corner of Federal and Robinson streets, Allegheny. Every article offered for sale, whether it be be in fine drugs, choice perfumery, or the numberless fancy articles which every first-class drug house deals in, bears with it to every purchaser the reputation of the establishment, and will be found to be satisfactory in every particular as far as represented. In connection with his regular trade, Mr. Sample is also agent for the sale of a few specialties in the patent medicine line, the merits of which are made apparent to the most doubtful by a fair trial. He invites an examination of his stock, satisfied that in price and quality he can fully compete with any other establishment of a good character in either city.

CHARITY FAIR.—The Charity Fair which opened in the basement of the Cathedral last evening, promises to be a success in every respect. As the proceeds are to be devoted to the relief of the sick and poor, the enterprise is a worthy one, and the community it appears view it in that light, and willingly bestow upon it a liberal patronage.
